POLITICAL POKER PLAYERS, FINED $10 EACH, APPEAL

Judge Ittner Also Assesses $3 Costs Against Each of Nine Men, Including "Nat" Goldstein.

NO MONEY ON TABLE,
DETECTIVE TESTIFIES

Chief Told Him "Take-Off" Game Was Reported Run by Weeke and Sent Him to Claridge, Roach Says.

Another chapter of "Poker and Politics" was written and captioned with the unlucky number 13 by Judge Ittner in Police Court today, when he levied $10 fine and $3 costs against nine poker players of political prominence, including Circuit Clerk Nat Goldstein and Henry L. (Hank) Weeke, who were arrested in room 1015 of the Claridge Hotel, Eighteenth and Locust streets, Saturday afternoon, by policemen who had been instructed to suppress gambling, "let the chips fall where they may."

In addition to Goldstein and Weeke, those fined were Edward Schol, Alderman for the Second Ward; William Tammie, Alderman for the Sixth Ward; Maurice Rothchild, member of the Missouri Legislature; George P. Weinbrenner, former sheriff of St. Louis; Frank M. Slater, Republican Committeeman in the Seventeenth Ward; James A. Smith, former Building Commissioner of St. Louis; and George C. Dyer, publisher of the Censor, a weekly publication.

Hotel Manager Not Fined.
The only one arrested in Saturday's raid who was not fined was Jere D. Cravens, manager of the Claridge Hotel. Testimony showed he was not in the room at the time of the raid, explained to the Court that it had been the intention to charge Cravens with permitting gambling on his premises, but someone at his headquarters blundered and charged him with taking part in the game.

Only the testimony of policemen was heard. After the fines were levied all the defendants filed notice of appeal.

Detective Sergt. Roach testified that he went to the hotel with four other policemen on orders from Detective Chief Hoegland. "The Chief told me he understood a 'take-off' game was being run at the Claridge and that Hank Weeke was running it," said Roach. "The Chief said: 'If they are playing, lock them up.'"

I went to the hotel and asked an elevator man, 'Where are the players?' He replied that they were playing in rooms 1015 and 1017. I went up there and listened at the doors. I was waiting for other officers to join me. I heard chips rattling and heard men talking and laughing, but I couldn't hear what they said.

Saw No Money on Table.
When the other officers came I knocked on the door of 1017 and a man inside told me to go to the other door. I went to 1015 and it was opened. I saw these men around a table, except Alderman Tammie. I couldn't be sure he had any chips. It was a poker table. It had a thick white pad on it and over this pad was a green balsa cover. We didn't see any money on the table and didn't see any money change hands. We took the cards and chips and the table pad and cover."

The cards, chips and table covering were introduced in evidence and Sergt. Roach then was cross-examined by Phillips W. Moss, attorney for the defendants.

OWNER DRIVES AWAY WITH AUTO CHAINED BY TRAFFIC POLICE

William G. Simrall, Who Releases Steering Wheel, Is Arrested Later.

William G. Simrall, 30 years old, a bond salesman, of 5633 Cates avenue, found Saturday afternoon that his automobile, which he had left standing on Tenth street near Locust, had been chained by the police, who were taking this method of detaining cars which are left parked in one place downtown over the one-hour limit.

Simrall had an engagement to play tennis, and was in a hurry to get home. There was no policeman in sight, so he removed the chain from his steering wheel—just how he did it is still a matter of controversy—and drove away, carrying the leather-covered chain and padlock.

A policeman sought him Saturday evening at his home and at the Forest Park tennis courts, but did not find him. The same policeman, this morning, arrested him as he drove downtown, and took him to Police Headquarters, where he was locked up.

A policeman was sent to his home to get the chain, which he said he had left there.

The police said they would see what the Prosecuting Attorney thought about the matter, and that, if nothing resulted from application to him, Simrall would be charged with violating the parking ordinance.

Bars Statute of Limitations
In Suit Caused by Appendix

Judge Ferriss Overrules Demurrer of Dr. Tuholske to Woman's $50,000 Action.

Against a condition concealed within one's body the statute of limitations does not apply, Circuit Judge Ferriss ruled today in denying the demurrer of Dr. Herman Tuholske of 4487 Westminster place to the $50,000 damage suit of Mrs. Helene R. Lambert, wife of Samuel B. Lambert, of 7103 Alamo avenue, for alleged malpractice.

Mrs. Lambert alleges that in November, 1907, when she was 13 years old, Dr. Tuholske operated upon her for the removal of the appendix, and thereafter assured her that he had removed it, but she continued to have trouble until January, 1920, when the X-ray revealed that a stump of the appendix remained, which was removed by another surgeon.

Dr. Tuholske's demurrer was on the ground that Mrs. Lambert's cause of action, if she had one, expired by the statute of limitations on Jan. 1, 1920, whereas the suit was not filed until September, 1920.

The Judge holds that Mrs. Lambert was justified in believing Dr. Tuholske when he said he had removed the appendix and that the statute of limitations did not apply because she did not know the cause of her trouble until the limitation had expired.

"It was not a case of her concealing the truth," he said. "The truth was concealed within her body."

The case will now be tried on its merits.

38 PERSONS ON TRIAL FOR TOLEDO POSTOFFICE ROBBERY

Woman and Priest Among Those Accused of Complicity in $100,000 Theft—Courtroom Guarded.

TOLEDO, June 6.—The second chapter of Toledo's famous $100,000 postoffice robbery started today when 38 defendants, accused of complicity, went on trial in a carefully guarded courtroom.

Wanda Urbaytis, once named as the moving spirit in the theft, and Father Anthony Gosek of New Chicago, Ind., are among the defendants.

Five of the 38 defendants have been indicted on 10 counts each, and each count could bring a sentence of 25 years in the event of a guilty verdict.

The robbery took place Feb. 17, five men compelling mail truck drivers to remain impassive while they loaded the mail sacks into an automobile and sped away.

REGULATION OF AMUSEMENTS BY POLICE SUGGESTED

Chief Quigley of Rochester, Addressing Convention, Tells How Crime Can Be Incited Among the Young.

LAUDS ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION ACT

Says Work Done to Uphold Dry Law Has Been Effective—Discusses Propaganda of Radicals.

The International Association of Chiefs of Police began its twenty-eighth annual convention today in the Shubert-Jefferson Theater. The gathering will continue through Thursday.

Chief Joseph M. Quigley of Rochester, N. Y., president of the association, in the president's annual address, declared that the police should supervise and regulate amusements, as a means of preventing crime; that concerted action should be taken against the propaganda of radicalism; that the association should go on record as to prohibition enforcement, and that police departments should more actively co-operate with Federal authorities in breaking up the traffic in narcotic drugs.

"The prevention of crime is the great police problem of the day," Chief Quigley said. "The apprehension of a criminal after crime has been committed is of much less importance, for there is little consolation for the injured one in the fact that the person who took a life or stole property, thereby inflicting irreparable loss, has been apprehended, and may be punished for the crime; and the community, in whose midst crimes of violence and theft occur, would rather be attacked with the fright and horror such occurrences excite. Then, when we consider the low percentage of crime cases that are solved, would you not say that it would be better if no crimes were committed?"

Prevention Called Necessary.
"I do not know who was the author of the adage, 'An ounce of prevention is worth a pound of cure,' but I am inclined to believe he was a policeman who had a case on his hands to solve that could have been prevented, but never cleaned up. Dealing with crime must attack its source. We must not permit the establishment or growth of anything that will tend to corrupt the morals of the susceptible. The control of crime must be given first consideration, for it is during our idle time that we find opportunity for evil deeds."

"Being public guardians, it is incumbent upon the police to supervise and regulate public sports, theatrical performances, moving picture shows and dances, and prevent them from becoming the agency for moral corruption. It may seem to some that the evils of the moving picture show and the dance hall might better be left to the women's clubs for discussion, but to those of you who have serious study to the causes of crime, it will be considered a matter for police chiefs to dwell upon. You know it took us some time to wake up to the evils of the pool room. Let us not then be caught napping in this instance."

"Crime is the result of moral degeneration, therefore, it is our concern to look into the things that promote moral corruption, for it is better to prevent than to risk the more difficult task of reform. To look to the little things is an axiom of business life that can well be applied to police work, for from little things larger problems develop."

Radical Socialism Condemned.
Radical Socialism persistently and consistently prevails generally, in some sections stronger than in others. The propaganda against capital is carried on in a way that incites to unrest and a disposition to violence. The propaganda admits of no error on their part, but put all on what they term 'A Capitalistic Government.' Their arguments, in most cases, are unreasonable, exaggerated and unjust. Under a Government which is as near a pure democracy as it well can be, there is no place for radicalism or physical force.

"We have been too indulgent with those who, by subtle propaganda, inspire hatred for the rich, or create a feeling of class distinction. This country is ruled by the people through their chosen representatives, who, if they prove false to the trust confided to them, may be retired by the people through the method by which they were selected to represent them, and no greater force is necessary or lawful."

The principle that the majority shall rule is just, and a discontented and rebellious minority must not be permitted to set it aside by resorting to seditious propaganda.

How to Clean Up City; Judges and Public Must Help

(From address of Chief Joseph M. Quigley of Rochester, N. Y., president International Association of Chiefs of Police.)

CITY develops because we do not hold in check the things that have a tendency to encourage a criminal life.

A short time ago I read an article in a newspaper in which an effort will be of no avail, clean up this city to the Queen's taste, when I have a law that makes carrying a gun a felony; stealing an automobile punishable with a term in the penitentiary of from two to 10 years, and the hearty co-operation of the public and judges alike. My friends, you can all do the same.

Such co-operation is necessary for successful law enforcement, and should be sought for and demanded by every police chief, for it is his due, and without it his efforts will be of no avail. Persons accused of crime are entitled to a fair and impartial trial, and the verdict should be in accordance with the evidence, and the technicalities of the law. Endeavor to discover the intent of the accused, and mete out justice accordingly, and there will be fewer criminals and less crime.

ESTATE TAX MAY BE DEDUCTED IN INCOME RETURN

United States Supreme Court Decides That Such a Levy Is Allowable in Computing Net Figure.

CASE AGAINST CAN COMPANY DROPPED

Government Action in Sherman Act Suit Based on Decision in U. S. Steel Corporation Case.

WASHINGTON, June 6.—An estate or inheritance tax is an "allowable deduction" from the income of an estate in computing net income, the Supreme Court ruled today.

The court affirmed a decision of the Court of Claims in the case brought by executors of the Alan H. Woodward estate, in Alabama, which held that the Government erred in refusing to approve such a deduction from the estate's income for 1918.

An Case Is Dropped.
The Government asked the Supreme Court today to dismiss its appeal in the suit brought against the American Can Co. and its subsidiaries under the Sherman antitrust laws. The Government lost in the lower courts.

The Government's action was based on the decision of the Supreme Court in the United States Steel Corporation case. In view of that decision, Solicitor-General Erierson said it was considered useless to continue the case against the American Can Co.

Shoe Case Ordered Restored.
The shoe case today ordered the United Shoe Machinery case, the original suit between Wyoming and Colorado, and a number of others, "restored to the docket for reargument before a full court."

The court refused to review decisions of Virginia courts restraining the Old Dominion Beverage Co. from infringing on the trademark of the Coca-Cola Co. and from alleged unfair trading practices in the "packages" of that company.

"Black Tom" Explosion.
The court also refused to review decisions of New York courts holding that the Lehigh Valley Railway Co. liable for damages resulting from certain freight shipments in the "Black Tom" explosion on July 29-30, 1916.

Suits aggregating $10,000,000 have been filed or are pending as a result of the disaster, when cars carrying barges loaded with munitions exploded, bombarding New York City and adjacent communities.

The court refused to review the conviction in Illinois of Ike Applebaum on charges of having in his possession a quantity of wheat bran stolen from a railroad shipment. Applebaum was sentenced to five years at Leavenworth and fined $1000.

MAN KILLED, SISTER WOUNDED
BY GUARDS ON TULSA ROAD

Flying Particles From Windshield Injure Woman When Driver Refuses to Stop.

By the Associated Press.
TULSA, Ok., June 6.—R. L. Osborne was shot by guards and fatally wounded and Mrs. Paul Varner, his sister, was seriously cut by flying particles of glass from the windshield on the Sand Spring highway, west of Tulsa, late last night.

Paul Varner, husband of the injured woman, the third occupant of the motor car, fired on when the guards' command to him was not obeyed, escaped uninjured.

Osborne and Mrs. Varner, who were removed to a hospital, said they heard the command to halt, but ignored it because they didn't know the two men who tried to stop them were guards. Osborne died today.

42 IDLE MINERS ARRESTED

West Virginians Charged With Violating Military Rules.

By the Associated Press.
WILLIAMSON, W. Va., June 6.—Forty-two men, residents of the Lick Creek tent colony of idle miners, near Williamson, were arrested yesterday and locked up in the county jail, charged with violating the proclamation of martial law recently imposed following disorders in the Mingo coal fields.

The purpose of the raid, said Capt. J. R. Brockus of the State Police, was an attempt to capture those who have fired upon motorists in the vicinity of the tent colony during the last few weeks. Reports reached State Police Headquarters that an automobile in which five persons were riding was fired upon this morning. No one was injured. Those arrested were all armed.

WIDOW, DAUGHTER, AND HER MOTHER HELD FOR MURDER

Mrs. Kaber, One of Women, One 20 and Other 69, Indicted in Death of Husband, Cleveland Publisher.

TRAGEDY IN HOME
NEARLY 2 YEARS AGO

Grandmother in Case Said to Have Told That Girl Ransacked House to Fool Investigators.

CLEVELAND, June 6.—Miss Marion McArdle, 20 years old, daughter of Mrs. Eva C. Kaber, and Mrs. Mary Brickel, 69, mother of Mrs. Kaber and grandmother of Miss McArdle, have been indicted by the county grand jury for first degree murder in connection with the slaying of Dan F. Kaber, wealthy Lakewood, O., publisher, in his home, nearly two years ago. The indictments were voted last night.

According to the prosecutor, Mrs. Brickel admitted that her daughter, Mrs. Kaber, told her she was going to kill her husband. She admitted, also, it is asserted, that the Kabes, home, where the murder was committed, had been ransacked by Miss McArdle as a sham to lead the police to believe the murder was committed by burglars.

Miss McArdle Questioned by Police in New York City.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Miss Marian McArdle, 20 years old, indicted in Cleveland, with mother and grandmother, on a charge of first degree murder, in connection with the slaying of Dan F. Kaber, wealthy publisher, of Lakewood, O., was taken to police headquarters today for questioning.

She was not placed under arrest.

TULSA WIRES PUEBLO: 'ADVISE US HOW WE CAN HELP YOU'

Message of Sympathy Sent From City That Had Race Riot to Flood-Stricken Town.

By the Associated Press.
TULSA, Ok., June 6.—Citizens of Tulsa have taken into their own hands the duty of guarding the city in the future against possible riots or organized lawlessness, with the formation yesterday of a public safety committee composed of 250 prominent men, who will be instantly available to put down any disturbance at its start. This measure was decided upon at a meeting of the Citizens' Committee of Welfare which was appointed, with plenary powers, following the race conflict and fires last Tuesday and Wednesday.

The safety committee will function separately from the regular force of city and county officers. Members of the committee declared that peace would be maintained here by the citizenry at any cost. The committee members' names and telephone numbers are being placed on file at the office of the Chamber of Commerce.

Fixing of responsibility for the race fighting and burning of the negro district will be left to the grand jury which has been adjourned to convene next Wednesday.

The welfare committee sent a telegram of sympathy yesterday to Pueblo, Colo. "Advise us how we can be of assistance," was the message to the flood-stricken city.

There is virtually no need now among the negro population here, Negroes have been supplied with clothing, shelter and food.

GEN. VIZCAINO OF MEXICO
COURTMARTIALED AND SHOT

Former Chief of Staff of Gonzales Said to Have Campaign Against Oregon Lately.

By the Associated Press.
MEXICO CITY, June 6.—Gen. F. Vizcaino, former chief of staff for Gen. Pablo Gonzales, ex-provisional President, was shot this morning in the military prison after having been convicted by a courtmartial of fomenting a revolution against the Government.

Gen. Vizcaino was captured last Saturday night in Mexico City and the courtmartial which sentenced him was immediately summoned. His execution took place at dawn.

Gen. Vizcaino is said to have been active late in furthering the campaign of Gen. Gonzales against President Obregon.

The newspapers treat the capture and execution of Gen. Vizcaino as one of the most important events since Gen. Obregon assumed the presidency.

CONDUCTOR SLEPT IN CABOOSE IN PUEBLO ALL THROUGH THE FLOOD

By the Associated Press.
PUEBLO, June 6.

OUT in the railroad yards, near the State Hospital, the correspondent found a freight conductor who had slept in a caboose throughout the flood.

"I didn't know there had been a flood until I woke up Saturday morning and found the floor of the caboose covered with mud," he said. "I had heard the rain once or twice during the night as it beat on the roof, but I rolled over and went back to sleep."

"In the morning I got up and went out into the yards. People were bringing bodies out from under the freight cars. I helped them. I don't know how many there were. They were jammed in between the trucks and car bodies so tight that we could hardly dig them out."

Spokesman for Western Systems Says They Are Dissatisfied With Labor Board Reduction.

By the Associated Press.
CHICAGO, June 6.—The American railroads, dissatisfied with the new Labor Board wage reduction order of June 1, stand squarely on a request for wage cuts which will wipe out the entire $600,000,000 increase granted last year. J. W. Higgins, speaking for the Western railroads, declared before the board today.

By the Associated Press.
PUEBLO, Colo., June 6.—For the first time since the flood waters overflowed into the city Friday night, the business district of Pueblo, lying on both sides of the river channel, today is virtually free of water. The overflow has drained back into the river, which is several feet below banks. Water is standing in low places, however, and even basement in the flooded section is filled.

Red Cross officials adhere to their estimate that the death toll will reach 100.

A careful check of the undertaking establishments today by the Associated Press showed a list of 42 known dead.

Damage Estimated at $10,000,000.
Flood damage, it is believed, will stand at the latest estimate of $10,000,000.

Reconstruction is beginning in earnest over the city. Stocks of chandise are water soaked and covered with mud. In many cases contents of the buildings were washed away.

On streets fronting the current, many buildings look like huge tanks had plowed through them and only side walls stand.

The section south of the Union Station apparently suffered most. There walls are down and mud was washed into the buildings. The railroad yards present a picture of the violence of the waters. Hundreds of cars were in the yards. Many were washed rods off the tracks and others were overturned when the tracks were washed away beneath them.

Switch Engine Works in Yards.
A single switch engine was at work in the yards this morning. Many switches were washed out and cars on some tracks are completely isolated.

Looking east from the high ground across from the railroad station, in the direction of the grove, one of the sections hardest hit by the flood, the skyline resembled that of a bombarded town. Piles of debris have accumulated, pieces of household furniture are lying about everywhere and in one place in the midst of the wreckage is a small herd of cattle, standing chewing their cud.

In the Grove section a relief party was at work this morning clearing about in search for bodies.

Two attempts have been made to recover the bodies of a woman and girl near the Colorado and Southern bridge southeast of the station, but both have been unsuccessful.

"We can feel the bodies under the water, but cannot get them out," one of the party reported. "They are apparently lodged under some logs."

This is believed to be true of many of the bodies of the flood victims. Along Union avenue, a thoroughfare connecting the North and South Sides of the city by a viaduct, the heaviest damage is noted. The road is nearly two feet deep.

All during the night the devastated areas were patrolled by a guard of Colorado soldiery, while the State Rangers in automobiles and armed with riot guns, patrolled the streets of the residence districts.

After midnight reports of looting in the flooded areas began to come in. The guards brought between 15 and 20 men to military headquarters for questioning and investigation, but in almost every case it was found that there had been a mistake.

LAURA BROMWELL KILLED IN A LOOP FLIGHT AT MINEOLA

Noted Flyer Drops 1000 Feet at Mitchell Field When Motor Stops and Machine Falls Into Spin.

FIANCE AMONG THE SPECTATORS

She Established Woman's Loop Title Record Recently in Making 199 Loops in Hour and 20 Minutes.

By the Associated Press.
MINEOLA, La., June 6.—Miss Laura Bromwell, noted flyer, holder of the loop-the-loop record for women, was killed at Mitchell field yesterday afternoon.

Miss Bromwell was flying at an altitude of about 1000 feet. She had just completed one loop and was about to make a second when something went wrong with the plane and it fell.

Miss Bromwell, whose home was in Cincinnati, was 23 years old. She established her loop-the-loop record on May 16, last, when she executed 199 loops in an hour and 20 minutes.
That same afternoon she piloted her airplane over a two-mile straightaway course at the rate of 135 miles an hour.

Military observers who witnessed yesterday's flight declared that the airplane motor stopped abruptly as Miss Bromwell was making the upward turn on the loop. The machine fell backward into a tail spin and dropped like a plummet to a road just outside of the field.

Had Tested Her Machine.
Hundreds of spectators rushed to where it struck. The girl's body was found in the wreckage. Miss Bromwell had tested her machine before engaging in her stunts, army officers said, and had pronounced it in good condition.

Miss Bromwell's machine went through the first loop with the grace of a bird. She had just started a second when suddenly the hum of the motor stopped and the plane lurched sideways. It seemed to remain suspended a minute and then started its drop.

A dark object flew from the machine and many spectators, thinking that the straps holding the aviatrix in her seat had broken, letting her fall into space, turned their heads. The object proved to be a seat cushion.

Experienced aviators who witnessed the accident declared that the woman's apparent inability to manipulate the control levers in an effort to right the plane probably was due to her being swung from the seat
so that she could not reach them.
She was flying high enough, they said, to have brought the plane safely to earth, even though the motor had stopped, if she had been able freely
to use the levers.

Statement on Accident.
R. H. Dewey, manager of the Curtiss field here, issued the following statement relative to Miss Brom-well's accident:

"Miss Bromwell's own plane was out of order. She borrowed a Canadian training plane, a type with which she could not reach them.
She was flying high enough, they
said, to have brought the plane safely
to earth, even though the motor had stopped, if she had been able freely
to use the levers.

"I warned her not to attempt to loop it, but she disregarded the instructions. In the middle of the second loop the cushion broke and she fell out and she evidently slipped out of reach of the controls and was unable to right the plane.

"Examination of the wreck disclosed all controls to be in working order."

Other aviation experts pointed out that the safety belt in the Canadian plane was higher than in the one she had been accustomed to use. Consequently, when she slipped head downward from her seat in the Canadian plane, she apparently was unable to obtain any leverage with her feet so as to right the machine.

Miss Bromwell's fiancé, George Javis, was among the spectators. He had driven down to the field with her from New York. The young man fainted when told that she was dead.
Miss Bromwell was clad as usual in the blue costume of a flying Lieutenant of the New York Police Department when she went up.

A resolution praising the impar-riot and the temper of the editorial comments was introduced by the Rev. W. A. Venable and was adopt-in the resolution. Venable, in an address, blamed the disorderly element of both races and the "yellow press" for the Tulsa outbreak.

With the exception of a relief train over the Colorado Southern from Trinidad yesterday, there has been no resumption of train service.
Reports received here today from Lake Charles, 15 miles south of the probable drowning of a hermit, who lived in a cave near that place.

The flood waters obliterated the cave and the occupant is still missing. Near the same spot, Lake Charles reported, a man and four children were drowned.

J. E. Moorhead, secretary to Gov.
Shoup, who is in Pueblo as the Governor's personal representative, today sent an urgent message to Colorado Springs, asking that a supply of anti-typhoid and anti-diphtheria serums, lime and disinfectants be rushed to Pueblo as soon as possible. There is no unusual danger of an outbreak of diphtheria or typhoid, Moorhead explained, but the authorities are running low on those particular necessities.

Plan to Rebuild.
"Tell the world we are going to rebuild," was the message Pueblo businessmen gave to the Associated Press correspondent today. "Send out word over your wires that we are going to have another city."

Optimistic signs began to appear in the windows of stores in the down town district.
"Are we downhearted? No. Let's go," read one sign in a furniture store in which there had been several feet of water up to this morning. Although in some instances businessmen lost all their property from the flood waters, they did not seem discouraged.

Hospital in Courthouse.
The upper floor of the courthouse has been converted into a hospital capable of taking care of more than 75 patients. A contagious ward has been opened, but last night it had no patients. A supply of cots, blankets, lamps, candles and sweaters arrived yesterday from the Red Cross in Colorado Springs. Col. F. J.
Pierce, in charge of the Red Cross, said that so far he had been able to feed and clothe every person applying for aid.

Hundreds of persons applied to the Red Cross yesterday and Saturday for food, clothing and medical relief.
A canteen supplied the food. A carload of beef was commandeered from the railroad yards and cooked to prevent its spoiling.

A complete field hospital is on the way from Fort Logan.
One of the greatest problems here is drinking water. The only water available is from a lithia spring near the Congress Hotel.

Restoration of the city will take weeks. Levees must be repaired before the business section can be cleared of water.

All the floors were washed out in the flood and return of the river to ing problem of magnitude.

virtually covering the entire section

President Offers Aid of Government to Colorado Governor.

By the Associated Press.
VALLEY FORGE, Pa., June 6.—
President Harding, at the country home here of Senator P. C. Knox, yesterday wired Gov. Shoup of Colorado, expressing sorrow and offering the aid of the Federal Government to the flood sufferers of that State.
The telegram said:

"I am deeply distressed to read of

"THOU SHALT NOTS," HYDE'S ROAD PROGRAM

Governor, Here, Says He Will Insist That Connected System Be Provided For.

Gov. Hyde in St. Louis today repeated to newspaper men his statement in Sunday's Post-Dispatch that he would have no legislative program at the special session of the Legislature which convenes Tuesday in Jefferson City. He said he would not lay before the Legislature any specific plan of legislation on roads.

"On roads," the Governor said,
"I will have no program except some 'thou shalt not.' Thou shalt not distribute the road funds to the county courts to spend. Thou shalt not have a patchwork road system.
Thou shalt not squander the road money. I shall insist that there be provision made for a statewide connected system of hard surface
roads."

The Governor was asked by one newspaper man about gossip among politicians to the effect that he intended becoming a candidate for the Republican nomination for United States Senator in 1922, the middle of his term as Governor.

"I hardly believe anybody would pay attention to such bunk," he said. "Of course, there is absolutely nothing to it. If I live I shall serve out my full term of four years as Governor. In 1922 I shall either be politically killed, or I shall be bending every effort to putting into effect the program of reorganized State government passed by the last Legislature. I certainly could not retain my self-respect if I should abandon that. You may say very definitely for me that I will not be a candidate for United States Senator in 1922."

The Governor said he would attempt to obtain the Cardinals-Philadelphia game this afternoon.

He came to St. Louis today in the belief that he was on the program of the International Association of Chiefs of Police for a speech, but found he was not expected until Thursday. He said he would be unable to attend that day.

No Communication for 24 Hours.
After that it was hours before communication between Pueblo and the rest of the country was restored. Then it was over one Western Union wire. The first outside newspaper men to reach the flooded city were two Denver correspondents.
One of them was an Associated Press staff man and the other a staff correspondent of the Denver Times.
They went together early Saturday city.

Later two more Associated Press

Colorado Springs from Denver by train and from Colorado Springs to Pueblo by automobile and foot.
Trains could not get within miles of the business section that managed to get around washouts on the roads

News in Pueblo was obtained under the greatest of difficulties. Local newspapers, the police, the fire department, the military and the Red Cross were the first sources of information until the necessary mil-provisions made for getting around through the mud, water and fire.

Correspondents had to work in relays to keep in contact with the long wire—and an uncertain wire at that

From the tops of buildings newspaper men in Pueblo witnessed much of the disaster. They also used boats. Boats were in fashion. The military wigwagged information when distance made it impossible to reach. Fire whistles and church bells also played their part in the transmission of emergency information.
Intrepid swimmers, many of them negroes, served as couriers.

HOW REPORTERS GOT PUEBLO FLOOD STORY

First From the Outside Flew In;

Served as Couriers.

By the Associated Press.
DENVER, June 6.—News from isolated Pueblo was obtained and forwarded to the outside world un-and in some instances as hazardous as those which the suffering people of that city themselves underwent.

The first news of the disaster came to Denver over the Associated Press leased wire and a Western Union Telegraph Co. wire almost simultaneously. A few minutes after the Associated Press wire lost Pueblo, the last Western Union op-

Stories of Eyewitnesses of Pueblo Flood Include Harrowing Experiences

Sheriff Tells of Water Rushing Through Train, Carrying Passengers Out Windows—
Other Tales.

By the Associated Press.
COLORADO SPRINGS, Colo., June 6.—Frank Duncay, Sheriff of Mesa County, was on a train which stood on the bank of the Arkansas River in Pueblo all Friday night, when the flood poured through the coaches and all but took the train with it.
He escaped and told the following story of his experiences.

"Soon after the train stopped alongside another train, the water was in the car and succeeding waves carried passengers out through windows and doors until less than half were left, and some of these clinging to the outside of the cars.

"The cars swayed back and forth.
Screams and cries of anguish rose.
I saw some people go to their deaths crushed between the two trains. A great pile of lumber came rushing down upon us, sweeping over us, striking some of those clutching there with precarious hold on the cars. They were torn loose and went floating down to death. I saw a man break his way through the top of a coach only to be washed down with the flood.

"On either side of us houses and barns and other buildings were swept down, some with people clinging to them. I saw two women on the top of a house. The structure struck the bridge and crumbled into an egg shell.

"Morning came. The waters had been receding. Those of us who were left—about 63—were able to reach the ground and walk around in water above our knees.

"Some of the unconscious women and children were left in the dark.
It was a scene of devastation and death."

$5,000,000 ASKED
OF GOVERNMENT FOR FLOODED AREA

By the Associated Press.
COLORADO SPRINGS, June 6.—
Gov. Shoup has been asked to appeal to the Federal Government for an appropriation of $5,000,000, of which $2,000,000 may be immediately available, in a telegram received at his home last night from James L. Lovern, president of the City Council of Pueblo. Frank S.
Rogers, chairman of the Levee Repair Committee, E. E. Withers, president of the Pueblo Waterworks, C. K.
McCarthy, president of the Arkansas Valley Ditch Association.

The text of the message follows:
"Late estimates of total property and crop damage between Canon
City and State line is from $15,000,- 000 to $20,000,000. Damage in Pueblo City and county alone will total $5,000,000 to $8,000,000. Federal Government expends millions of dollars to improve and repair levees in all sections of country. We now ask for Government to appropriate sum of $5,000,000, of which sum of $2,000,000 may be immediately available for purpose of repairing and improving Arkansas River and Fountain River levees and removing debris from ditches damaged, of which Pueblo should have at least $1,500,- 000 immediately. Impossible to ascertain loss of life, owing to impossibility of removing debris without great financial assistance, but Pueblo alone will show several hundred people drowned when debris is removed."

Red Cross estimates today put the dead in Pueblo at about 100.

YOUTH IS KILLED BY MOTOR CYCLE AT MAXWELTON TRACK

Ernest Aubuchon Struck by Machine Driven by Edward Meyer When Crossing Course During Race.

CAR PLUNGES OFF TRACK INTO RAVINE

Driver Knocked Unconscious but Not Seriously Hurt—Was Leading at 8th Lap of 15-Mile Race.

Ernest Aubuchon, 16 years old, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Aubuchon, 1117 North Channing avenue, was killed yesterday afternoon by a racing motor cycle during races held under the auspices of the St. Louis Motor Cycle Club at Maxwellton track, in St. Louis County.

The racing driver, Edward Meyer, of Belleville, and his motor cycle plunged off the track into a ravine. Meyer was not seriously hurt. After regaining consciousness he was unable to say what had happened.

Meyer, driving his first professional race was well out in front on the eighth lap of the 15-mile professional class. He had made one lap in 45 seconds just previous to the accident.

It was said that the Aubuchon boy ran from the inside toward the outside of the track at the southeast turn. He was taken in a side car to Barnes Hospital, where it was found that his skull had been fractured and his chest crushed.

anda or violence, and as the police are chosen primarily to uphold the Constitution and enforce the laws enacted in accordance with it, we should exert ourselves to the utmost, to uphold the one and completely respect the other. I hope, therefore, you will give this subject such consideration as may result in action commensurate with the seriousness of the problem.

"It is the duty of the police to exercise all the powers and authority vested in them, to apprehend and prosecute any person found violating the prohibition law, as well as other laws, and they, I am sure, always have done their duty. However, a full enforcement of the law has not been accomplished because the people, who by our jury system really enforce the laws, have failed to convict violators in many cases, though the evidence presented by the police was competent and sufficient. This attitude of the public, it is thought by many, was responsible for the general disregard for law apparent during the past two years. The conjecture may be true, for the reason that extraordinary public opinion was focused on this law by the Federal authorities, thereby magnifying the crime of selling or transporting liquor, and classifying violators with the most desperate criminals, which procedure incited mediocre criminals, gamblers, pickpockets and the like, to engage in the business of bootlegging, both for profit and adventure.

Cites Work for Prohibition.

"Arrests of persons found violating the law and the seizure of property was given wide publicity, which publicity helped to swell the crime wave. All of these coincidences brought much censure on the police by persons who were not informed on the true situation. But as the sentiment subsides and calm prevails, the police are being exonerated, and commended for their loyalty and good work. No wonder, therefore, I believe that this organization should go on record concerning the efficacy of the prohibition law, and as to their attitude on the enforcement of it, in order that you may give emphasis to police sentiment in this important problem, which I know is that of devoted loyalty to their country and its people.

"With prohibition becoming a fact, it is claimed that the use of habit-forming drugs is being resorted to by laborers who feel that they must have a substitute for strong drink. When one becomes addicted to the use of them, it is almost, if not absolutely, impossible, to recover from the habit.

Problem of Drug Suppression.

"Because of the criminal tendencies of addicts, the control or suppression of this evil is now a police problem, and to successfully combat it we must reach the source of supply. Treatment and cure of the addict is a matter for the health authorities, but the fact that addicts must have a constant supply, the cost of which amounts to from $1 to $5 per day, and the victims being physically unable to work and earn the money necessary to procure a supply of the drug, they resort to criminal methods to obtain it. They are, therefore, a menace to the public.

"Soldiers of habit-forming drugs are constantly working in every city in the country, but they are most numerous in cities of large populations, and they are considered such a dangerous menace to public well-

DRY GOODS MEN SELLING MORE ARTICLES, TAKING IN LESS

Officials of Association in Chicago for Convention Say They Are Not Breaking Even.

CHICAGO, June 6.—Co-operation with the Commerce Department and the Federal Trade Commission by submitting monthly reports of prices, business conditions, sales and stock on hand will be proposed at the annual convention of the National Retail Dry Goods Association which opens a three-day meeting in Chicago today. The Congress will bring together the financial and executive officials of dry goods and department stores from all parts of the country.

The merchants of the country are selling 125 articles to 100 a year ago, but because of 33 1-3 per cent lower price levels, they must sell 150 articles, or 50 per cent more than last year, to break even, officials of the association contend.

The merchants are realizing only 85 per cent of the dollar of volume of 1920, it was reported. "It is to the interest of the retailer to reduce prices still lower," said H. R. Young of Washington, secretary of the association. "The man who continues to hold up prices will come to grief."

FOUR MEN ROB KROGER STORE

Escape in Auto After Taking $25 From Cash Register.

Four young men in an automobile drove to the Kroger grocery at 3525 North Twenty-fifth street at 10:30 a. m. today, and two entered the store and drew revolvers.

They ordered the manager, Jesse Thomas, to face the wall and while one kept him covered the other took $25 from the cash register. They then ran out, jumped into the automobile and escaped.

ANOTHER ALLEGED ROBBER TAKEN BY 'NIGHT RIDERS'

Was Among 35 Men Known as Police Characters Arrested in Raids by Special Squad Yesterday.

POLICEMAN ON BEAT BRINGS IN ANOTHER

One Identified as Kroger Store Robber, the Other as Man Who Held Up County Deputy Sheriff.

Two of 35 known police characters arrested by the police "night riders" yesterday have been identified as highwaymen. As was told yesterday, one of 92 police characters taken Saturday was identified as a highwayman.

One of the men captured yesterday was Ray Renard, 22 years old, who was at liberty under an appeal bond in Federal Court, where he had been sentenced to five years in the penitentiary on a charge of participation in a theft from an interstate shipment, in which Ernest Miller, known as Bergadine, also was convicted. Renard was arrested by a uniformed policeman at Fifteenth and Benton streets and later was identified by Henry Schaffer, manager of a Kroger grocery at 1399 Burd avenue, as one of four men who robbed the store of $25 on May 19.

Allen Law, 20, of 3827 Windsor place, also arrested yesterday, was identified by Harry Degreunde of Kirkwood, a Deputy Sheriff in St. Louis County, as one of two men who held him up in Kirkwood on May 24, taking his revolver and badge.

Home-Brewed Beer and Whisky Seized in Several Liquor Raids.

Several liquor raids also were made by the police yesterday. Twelve bottles of home-brew beer, 10 gallons of alcohol and a roulette wheel were found in the saloon of Dee Emerick at 2548 St. Louis avenue.

Two tubs of ice-d home-brew beer, six other cases of the same product, nine quarts of whisky, three quarts of alcohol and a quantity of hops were confiscated in the saloon of Thomas Henry, Sixth and Hickory streets.

Michael Cleary of 4558 Easton avenue was arrested when a small still was found on the third floor of that number.

Roy Carper, his wife and a guest were arrested in the Carper home at 2364 Franklin avenue, where six cases of home-brew beer and a 10-gallon jug of mash were found. Mr. Carper and the guest later were released.

A half pint of what the police declared was whisky was found in the saloon of Walter Zagroba at 925 O'Fallon street. Zagroba and his wife, who was in the saloon, were arrested.

A dice box and five dice were confiscated in the saloon of Charles H. Wild at 1927 South Jefferson avenue and Wild and five men were arrested. The police said that money was snatched from the bar as they entered.

Saloon Found Dead in Hotel.

A man who registered at Hotel Statler as Edward N. Friedman of Chicago was found dead in his bed there yesterday. Heart trouble was said by doctors to have caused death. Friedman was a salesman for a Chicago packing house, was 60 years old, and lived at 4851 Forresterville avenue, Chicago.

Chief O'Brien's Little Joke.

When the gathering was called to order, Chief O'Brien of St. Louis stepped forward and released a number of small gas balloons, which went sailing through the theater. This was his fulfillment of a promise, made to some of the visitors, to give them all a "highball." The balloons were greeted with cheers.

A cabaret girl, on horseback, then rode across the stage, stopping long enough to recite a brief message of welcome, prepared by Chief O'Brien.

Mayor Kiel was introduced, and spoke of the attractions of St. Louis, particularly the Municipal Theater, and of the increased problems of police administration, due to traffic problems and the use of automobiles in crime. St. Louis has 50,000 automobiles, he said. Chief Quigley replied briefly to the Mayor's address. An invocation was pronounced by Mr. J. J. Tamrath, pastor of the Old Cathedral. Gov. Hyde, who was expected to address the convention, and who was in the city, did not appear at the convention, through a misunderstanding as to the time for his address.

Business matters occupied the remainder of the morning session. Wives and daughters of the visiting police officials were taken in charge by a committee headed by Mrs. Victor J. Miller, wife of the President of the St. Louis Police Board, for an automobile ride to Bevo Mill for luncheon and a further

NEW CONFESSION DISCREDITS FIRST IN DECK KILLING

Elvin Thomas, Former Constable, Says Herculaneum Man Was Not Killed With His Own Revolver.

MAN WHO FIRED SHOT MAKES AN ADMISSION

James H. Seward, Under Arrest, Says Weapon Used Was One Furnished to Him by Eugene Hayes.

A confession made in Hillsboro, Mo., by Elvin Thomas and turned over to the St. Louis police today, throws important new light on the shooting and killing of Andrew Deck, former saloon keeper and voluntary informant of prohibition enforcement agents, at Herculaneum, the night of Feb. 26 last, and seemingly shows that Deck was not shot in self-defense or in a struggle for a revolver, as was stated in a confession last Saturday by James H. Seward of 1621 South Third street.

Seward, in his confession, said he was hired by bootleggers to "beat up" Deck, but when Deck offered resistance he wrested Deck's revolver from him and shot him with it. After the receipt of Thomas' confession today, Seward admitted this was not true.

Thomas is the former Deputy Constable of Herculaneum, who drove Seward to St. Louis in his automobile after the shooting. In his confession he said that a day or two before the shooting he heard Eugene and Ernest Hayes and Otto Thomas talking about Deck and heard Eugene Hayes say they would have to go to St. Louis to get a man to whip Deck.

Three Are Under Arrest.

The three men mentioned by Thomas are under arrest. According to Seward's confession they wanted Deck beaten because he had given information to prohibition enforcement officers and was soon to appear as a witness for the Government in a bootlegging case in which a member of the Thomas family is a defendant.

Thomas recounts that a few days after the first conversation Ernest Hayes said to him: "We've got the man here who is going to take care of Deck tonight." Hayes then told him it would cost $25 to have the "job" done, the confession says, and when Thomas objected to contributing, Hayes told him that if he Victim Told to Fire Shots.

According to the confession, Thomas said he heard Seward say he went to Deck's house and asked if Deck had a revolver. Deck produced a revolver and Seward commanded him to go to the back door and fire two shots in the air.

Thomas said Seward explained that he did this so that empty shells would be found in Deck's weapon if it should become necessary to claim self-defense and make it appear that Deck was the aggressor. He told him he heard Seward say he had represented himself to Deck as a revenue officer, who could have Deck appointed as a prohibition enforcement officer.

When questioned today after the receipt of Thomas' confession Seward admitted it was "about correct." He said he told an untruth in his former confession when he said he shot Deck with Deck's revolver. He took Deck's revolver from him, he said, but the shooting was done with a revolver which had been given to him by Eugene Hayes.

At the Seward street police station today Hayes admitted that his revolver was used in the shooting and told policemen where he had pawned it. After coming to St. Louis with Seward.

NEW YORK, June 6.—The Chandler Motor Co. today declared a quarterly dividend of $1.50 per share. This was a reduction in the annual dividend rate from $10 to $6.

MRS. STILLMAN TO NAME A SECOND CO-RESPONDENT

Woman to Be Named as "Clare;" Stillman to Be Cross-Examined.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Mrs. James A. Stillman will name a second co-respondent in an amended answer to be filed with Supreme Court Justice Morchauser at Poughkeepsie, it is learned. This woman is to be named as "Clare." Mrs. Florence Leeds has been named previously.

In filing an amended answer, it is reported, John F. Brennan of Yonkers, commander of Mrs. Stillman's legal forces, will attempt to stay the proceedings until June 15.

When the hearings are resumed before Referee Daniel J. Gleason at Poughkeepsie, Mrs. Stillman, wife of the former superintendent of the Pleasantville estate of the Stillmans, is expected to be an important witness against Mrs. Stillman.

Stillman at future hearings will be subjected to cross-examination on his wife's allegation.

$7000 Holdup in Kansas City.

KANSAS CITY, Mo., June 6.—Six robbers in a stolen touring car held up John T. McGuire, manager of Electric Park, an amusement park here, shortly after noon today and took $7000 which McGuire was taking to a bank. The robbery took place on a street a few blocks from the business district.

didn't he would get "what Deck was going to get."

In similar threats, he said, he was compelled to bring Seward to St. Louis after the shooting. While being brought to St. Louis, he said, Seward sat in the rear seat and kept him covered with a revolver and ordered him to make good speed. Eugene Hayes sat in the front seat with Thomas, who says he heard them discuss the shooting.

MINISTERS VOICE OBJECTION TO HEAVY MILITARY OUTLAY

Southern M. E. Organization Asks Congressmen Not to Approve Senate Appropriation Increases.

Following an address this morning at the Centenary M. E. Church by Dr. Wilbur F. Crafts, superintendent of the Internal Reform Bureau, the St. Louis Southern Methodist Ministers' organization adopted a resolution calling upon St. Louis members of the House of Representatives to vote against concurrence in the Senate naval appropriation.

The resolution, copies of which have been sent to the representatives, follows: "The St. Louis Southern Methodist Ministers' organization urges non-concurrence in the Senate additions to the army and navy appropriations. Big appropriations to multiply military officers and continue war traders' dangerous business naturally promote war. Rather should America lead efforts for world disarmament."

June 19 Designated as Day for Taking Collections—$46,000 Needed.

Sunday, June 19, has been designated as Provident Association day by the Church Federation of St. Louis, and the Ministers' Alliance. An effort will be made on that day to raise funds to help the association which, as a result of the unprecedented demands made upon it due to the unemployment situation, will require $46,000 to carry on its work until the end of its fiscal year, Nov. 1.

W. R. Tubbs, financial and publicity secretary of the Provident Association, said today that the association was facing a serious financial crisis. "We have funds enough for only four weeks," he said.

The resolution adopted by the two church organizations, copies of which have been sent to every minister in the city, ask that every assistance possible be given to the Provident Association and that, if consistently possible, the church arrange to take an offering on June 19 for the association.

Four-minute speakers for the churches will be provided by the association from its executive board and workers.

Statistics showing the comparative demands made upon the association in recent years are being prepared and will be announced shortly.

Nature uses saliva to preserve the teeth

Listerine Tooth Paste makes the saliva flow

THE reason is simple: this tooth paste contains a mild fruit acid that makes your "mouth water."

If you should remove the saliva from the mouth all the teeth would decay; the tooth paste that increases the saliva is best for the teeth.

Try this—put a little baking soda in your mouth, it's alkaline (the opposite of acid), and note how it dries things up. Now put in your mouth a drop or two of lemon juice and watch the saliva come back and surround the teeth with its protecting covering.

Nature's way is best

LISTERINE TOOTH PASTE

is Nature's helper. Not only good, but pleasant.

That Struck Mrs. Anna Du Perow May 15 Held.

A verdict of criminal carelessness was returned at the inquest today into the death of Mrs. Anna Du Perow, 36 years old, 9814 South Broadway, at the city hospital yesterday morning from injuries received May 15 when she was struck by a Broadway car near her home. John Wolf, 30 years old, of 2201 Kaokuk street, the motorman, was held in $2500 bond.

Mrs. Du Perow, the testimony showed, was following her husband, Percival, across the track to board the car when she was struck and hurled 25 feet into a ditch. The car was going down a grade. Witnesses placed the speed at 20 to 40 miles an hour. The car ran about 100 feet after striking her. The motorman made no statement.

Folks Began to Break Nature's Laws.

Doctors French Prevention Is Better Than Cure.

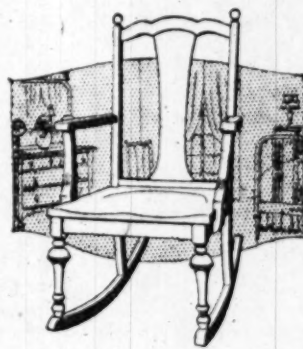

Ninety per cent of all disease is preventable, so doctors say. Eat simple food, exercise wisely, sleep sufficiently, and what is vitally important—make sure of the daily, regular, thorough elimination of body waste, and the chances are nine to one that you will keep well, work efficiently and enjoy life. Bowel elimination of food and tissue waste is all-important. But in case of irregularity, disordered or imperfect action do not make the common mistake of taking harsh, violently acting medicines, with the idea of forcing the bowels to act. Nature believes in mild methods. She responds best to persuasion.

So in selecting a simple remedy to regulate and assure proper bowel action, you should not use harsh or violently acting remedies, no matter how much has been claimed for them. You should choose some well-known, time tested, trial proven remedy that has the reputation of being used for many years, by all sorts of people, all over the world. Take Beecham's Pills for example. Beecham's is a household word, has been for many generations. Beecham's Pills is a household remedy, has been for over half a century. People not only take Beecham's but recommend Beecham's to their friends. Their use is handed down from father to son or from mother to daughter, from one generation to another. Did you ever hear any complaint or criticism of Beecham's? Isn't that a pretty powerful endorsement of their worth? Druggists are glad to sell Beecham's.

PROSECUTOR DEFENDS U-BOAT VERDICT

German Thinks British Lawyers
Will Agree There Was No Alternative to Acquittal in Hospital Ship Case.

Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch
and New York World.

LONDON, June 4.—The Daily News yesterday printed an interview obtained by its Leipzig correspondent with Dr. Ebermayer, German public prosecutor, whose brilliant speeches have been among the features of the first series of the trials of the war criminals. It was suggested to Dr. Ebermayer that acquittal of the submarine commander, Lieut. Neuman, who sank the British hospital ship Dover Castle, was likely to cause a disagreeable impression in England. "That may unfortunately prove to be the case," Dr. Ebermayer is quoted as replying, "although I fail to see what other verdict could have been given. The Judge had only to decide whether the commander in the case under review was bound to obey the order given by his superiors, and on that point I fancy British lawyers and British soldiers will agree that there was no alternative to the verdict given."

"The impression prevails in England that the sentences passed in the other three cases were far too mild. Certainly the Judge gave less than you, yourself asked for," the News correspondent said.

"No importance need be attached to the last point," replied Dr. Ebermayer. "In Germany, and I fancy elsewhere, Judges usually pass shorter sentences than the public prosecutor demands. I, personally, don't feel aggrieved on that point, for I think that the penalties imposed were not inadequate to the offenses committed. Two at least of the men accused were guilty of wholly inexcusable conduct toward prisoners in their charge, yet justice has to take an account of the difficult circumstances in which they were placed."

"The suggestion is made in England that Gen. Von Franzecky of the German War Ministry terrorized the Judges," the correspondent remarked.

"The grotesqueness of such a suggestion hardly needs emphasizing," replied the public prosecutor with some warmth. "Neither Gen. Von Franzecky nor anyone else could easily terrorize the Judges of the German Supreme Court. Our Judges have been attacked in British papers for leniency and by German newspapers for alleged harshness. Their task was ungrateful and a difficult one, and I think that on second thoughts the British public will agree that they have performed it with credit."

ARCHBISHOP DEPLORES INVENTIONS FOR WARLove of God Need Today of World Which Is Suffering From Science's Destructive Devices.

Comparing the tendencies of science and religion, Archbishop Glennon, in his sermon at the New Cathedral yesterday, said:

"When the war broke out they turned to the scientists—to learn how to promote life, how to advance man onward to the stars? No, the supreme duty of the scientists then was to promote the business of killing men—killing as many of the enemy, God's children as much as we are, as possible. The earth is ravaged today, because it has been so scientific. And we have only commenced.

"You are no longer going to fight man against man, sword against sword, army against army. I have been reading of the latest achievement in poison gas. The objective is, say, the City of St. Louis. Sixty airplanes will be used, each one with about one-half a ton of that sort of gas. The airplanes in long procession file out, and during the night they circle around, dropping gas, which, being heavier than the air, falls. In the morning the people of St. Louis will wake up, rather oppressed. They will feel a sense of dullness, and they will not be able to find their way to the breakfast table. In a day or two days, three days at most, they will be dead. The gas will have killed the mice down in the cellar. It makes no difference between the mice and the men. They will all be dead, and the City of St. Louis will be like a painted desert.

"They tell us today we should speak of peace. While speaking of peace, we are told of these inventions to make more war. Peace can only come through the plan of God. We should be loving, serving, helping one another, for God's sake, if for no other. The love of God today is the only hope of man, the only hope of nations."

Charge Against Mine Manager. Wallace Harper, manager of the Glendale mine at Freeburg, will have a hearing before Justice of the Peace Eggersman in Belleville Thursday on a charge of violating the State mining law by permitting shot-firers to operate in the mine before all of the miners had gone to the top. Fred Teitgenhoff, employee in the mine, swore out the warrant.

3 Sound Reasons
Why the St. Louis
Savings Investor
Buys U. E. Co. 7%
Preferred Stock

Nearly six thousand of them have bought it. Others are buying it every day. For these reasons mainly:

First—It pays them a safe and sure 7% cash income—$1.75 every 90 days on each $100 share.

Second—It is always salable, on short notice, at the price they paid for it.

Third—It helps finance the growth of St. Louis' great electric service industry—makes work and wages for St. Louis people—distributes each year a larger portion of the profits of the business here in St. Louis.

You can buy these shares at $100 each for cash, or on a ten-payment plan out of your current savings.

RATES WHITMAN LOW AS POET
Bishop Quayle Characterizes Writings as "Swaggering Fifth."
Bishop William A. Quayle of St. Louis, delivering the baccalaureate sermon to the graduating class of McKendree College, Lenoxon, Ill., yesterday, expressed a low estimate of the works of Walt Whitman, sometimes called "the good gray poet." "The less you know about Whitman, the better you will like him," Bishop Quayle said. "I have read all but two of John Burroughs' books. One of those I did not read was his book on Walt Whitman. I have no desire to become inebriated in swaggering fifth."

Four young men and three young women are in the 1921 class at McKendree, and will receive their diplomas Saturday.

SUES OVER REFERENCE TO HER RELATIONS WITH GERMAN PRINCE

French Woman Wants 20,000 Francs for Author's Mention of Her in "Butcher of Verdun."
Special Cable to the Post-Dispatch.
PARIS, June 6.—The hearing of the charge of having defamed the character of Blanche Descey made by the young woman against Louis Dumur, author of the romance, "The Butcher of Verdun," began in Nancy yesterday. Mlle. Descey demands 20,000 francs damages for references made in the book touching on her alleged association with the former German Crown Prince.

Despite details furnished by M. Dumur, which he claims to have obtained from an official of the war ministry; despite his document and public rumors which are said to have caused the young woman to quit the village of Stenay—once the former Crown Prince's headquarters—for Nancy, Mlle. Descey insists on the purity of her "inevitable" relations with him. The highbrow monthly review, "Mercure de France," which published "The Butcher of Verdun," serially and a number of newspapers which repeated the allegations against Mlle. Descey are included in her complaint and suit for damages.

To Flake Off An Old or Soiled Complexion

A woman need never cease to have a young-looking complexion if she will adopt the simple mercurized wash habit. The wash actually takes off the old complexion, with all its imperfections, and the newer and clearer skin, which then appears, bears that rare beauty and irrefutable loveliness that only a youthful skin can possess. The skin is indeed youthful, in reality as well as in appearance. The natural process of regeneration, which slows up with the passing of the years and in most conditions of ill-health, is hastened along by the mercurized wash treatment. Paded, sunken, freckled skin is flaked off in powdery particles, a little each day, leaving no inconspicuous mercurized wash now procurable at any drug store in the country, is the only known product that accomplishes such results. It is applied at night, like cold cream, and washed off in the morning. If combined with wrinkle cream, a wash lotion made by dissolving a few drops of powdered extract in a half pint of witch hazel will give wonderfully effective.

THE FIGHTER FOR 52 YEARS

By the Associated Press.
CLEVELAND, O., June 6.—With the rounding out of 52 years of continuous service on June 1, friends of Chief George A. Wallace claimed him to be the oldest fireman in the world in point of service.
Chief Wallace has been at the head of Cleveland's Fire Department for more than 20 years. Never in his long career has he had a desert mark. Wallace, now 73 years old, joined the department in 1869. He carries himself like a man of 40. When he joined the department there were 55 members, 75 of whom are now dead.
He has seen the hand apparatus of volunteer firemen give way to the fire horse and has seen the horse replaced by the motor apparatus, the local department being completely motorized.

TELLS HOW CRIMINAL USES PLANE AND AUTO

Visiting Police Official Urges Need of a National System of Identification.

E. Van Buskirk, superintendent of the National Bureau of Criminal Identification, Washington, in his annual report made to the convention of police chiefs today, declared that the organized character of the work of criminals, and their use of modern means of rapid locomotion—he included airplanes with automobiles as vehicles of criminal activity—had made more necessary the service of his bureau, on a nation-wide scale.
"The policing of a city today," he said, "is altogether a different matter from what it was a few years ago. In the days preceding the advent of the motor car as a means of travel, each Chief confined his operations almost wholly to his own city. Today the Police Chief who would give his city the protection which it not only requires, but which is expected, must be in very close touch with his brother chiefs throughout the whole country, while they, in turn, must be protecting him."
"Criminals Now Travel Rapidly."
"From the fact that a vast number of automobile thieves operate from city to city, and from state to state, and that the automobile and airship are being used as a means of conveyance by safe blowers, holdup men and smugglers, the crooks traveling about the country with the rapidity with which these means supply them, one can easily realize how necessary it is that the police departments throughout the country should avail themselves of every possible means of co-operation."
"Observe how the big robberies and hold-ups are conducted today. Twelve or more men in three or four automobiles, armed with shotguns, hold up a paymaster in his automobile, or march into a bank, or a mail train, or conduct a bond steal. Several robberies have been carried out of late, in which 20 or more men were in the party. They are all organized, have their master mind and are co-operating and, as I stated before, it is for the police departments to do the same if they would expect to faithfully and successfully render their municipality their best service."

As showing the need for centralization and co-operation, and the practical value of membership in the Bureau of Identification, Van Buskirk cited these cases:
"Chief Weaver of Elmira, N. Y., forwarded to the bureau the fingerprints of two young fellows who were arrested in his city charged with holding up a grocer. It was also found they had stolen an automobile in Birmingham, N. Y. Search in the bureau files revealed the fact that one of them had previously been arrested in Hoboken, N. J., charged with petit larceny. The other fellow had been reported from Youngstown, O., where he had previously been arrested charged with highway robbery. He was turned over to the Cleveland, O., authorities, where he was wanted on a charge of holding up a restaurant Dec. 24, 1918, and shooting and killing the cashier."

"He was found guilty of manslaughter by a jury and sentenced to serve an indeterminate term in the Ohio Reformatory at Mansfield, at which institution he was received March 20, 1919.
July 17, he escaped from the reformatory, and is now wanted by the authorities of this institution."

How Prints Proved Useful.
"Had the chief at Hoboken or the Youngstown or Cleveland chief failed to send in the prints at the time these parties were arrested in their city, Chief Weaver might have corresponded with numerous chiefs throughout the country and even then failed to discover the identity of these parties."

"During the month of August last, a policeman in the city of Rochester, N. Y., surprised a burglar one night in the act of attempting to break and enter a store in that city. The burglar, in an attempt to escape, jumped into a river which was near by. Several days later his body was recovered. Chief Quigley directed that finger prints from the dead man be taken and forwarded to the National Bureau of Criminal Identification."

"As search failed to locate a duplicate of these prints, and Chief Quigley having stated a military button had been found upon the body and suggesting search in that direction, I took the prints to the Navy Department where, although the Rochester prints were quite badly wrinkled, due to the man's fingers having been exposed so long to the water, a copy of the dead man's prints were secured in a very few moments, showing that as George Alder he had enlisted in the navy Dec. 12, 1918, at Seattle, Wash., rated as a ship's fitter, second class, and was declared a deserter June 25, 1919."

"These cases also illustrate very forcibly the value of universal fingerprinting, which I brought up at our convention last year in Detroit, and in which I am a firm believer."

Uniform Print System Urged.
The speaker said that, in the past two years, a number of contributing members of the Bureau of Identification had discarded Bertillon measurements. To drop the Bertillon method, he said, would simplify the operation of the bureau, but he doubted the possibility of making this change in the very near future, as more than 80 per cent of the photographs and records now in the bureau were filed under the Bertillon system. He urged the adoption of uniform finger print cards.

He commended state laws, organizing state bureaus for criminal identification, as well-directed measures.

ZIONIST FACTIONS IN CLASH OVER $100,000,000 FUND

Judge Mack, President of American Zionists, Beaten for Chairman of Body's Convention at Cleveland

DR. WISE ACTIVE IN STORMY SESSION

Internal Strife Has Prevented Carrying Out Constructive Policies for Palestine Judge Mack Charges.

By the Associated Press. CLEVELAND, June 4.—Discussion of the annual report of Judge Julian W. Mack, president of the American Zionist organization, will be continued at today's session of the twenty-fourth annual convention. The opening session of yesterday afternoon early this morning after it had been repeatedly thrown into turmoil by charges and countercharges.

Judge Mack declared in his report that the dispute, which has developed between the faction of which he is the leader and that supporting Dr. Chaim Weizmann, president of the World Zionist organization, was over how the $100,000,000 fund for Palestine was to be raised and controlled.

The split broadened when Judge Mack was defeated for the chairmanship of the convention by Judge Henry J. Dannenbaum of Houston, Tex., by 75 majority and three secretaries were appointed by the Weizmann following. Judge Dannenbaum received 129 of the 214 votes cast.

Later, when 15 names were submitted for the Committee on Committees, it was charged by Judge Mack's supporters that none of them was friendly to his administration. Thereupon, Chairman Dannenbaum substituted five other names. The committee is to be named today.

Differences Arose Yesterday. Differences which arose between Rabbi Stephen S. Wise and Judge Bernard Rosenblatt, both of New York, yesterday, were amicably settled when the men explained the remarks made during the heat of an argument and apologies were exchanged.

The nominations brought the clash between Rabbi Wise and Judge Rosenblatt. When interrupted while nominating Judge Mack, Dr. Wise reminded Judge Rosenblatt that "this is not a New York Political Court." Judge Rosenblatt retorted by saying "neither is it a free synagogue."

Judge Mack, Dr. Weizmann and other speakers urged that there be peace between the factions.

Judge Mack declared he had hoped for peace until the convention opened. He recited how an intimate diary had read to him "what purported to be a draft of a proposal last Wednesday, which, he said, was ready to indorse. But the next day, in a telegram, the conditions had been changed so that the principles had been obliterated, said Judge Mack. One of these conditions was that Jacob De Haas, secretary of the American Zionist organization, be eliminated from office, except as may be elected; and that, Dr. Frankfurter must not even be on the Executive Committee."

"I rejected the proposal with these modifications," Judge Mack added.

Resolutions Adopted. Jews in war ravaged countries contributed $100,000 for the Palestine foundation fund, L. A. Nalati of England, director of the Kefauver Association, told the delegates.

Resolutions were unanimously adopted urging the speedy construction by the allied and associated Powers and the Council of the League of Nations of the mandate for Palestine to Great Britain and protesting against the alleged pogroms in Russia, in which hundreds of Jews were lost, and expressing confidence in the policy of Great Britain regarding the Jewish national homeland.

The Election Committee amicably settled controversies over the seat of delegates by admitting those of both factions. Judge Mack charged that a small group of individuals executed a coup d'etat in the Zionist organization, and now was attempting another coup in the American organization in an effort to control the $100,000,000 fund which it was proposed to raise for rebuilding of Palestine.

In his annual report Judge Mack gave the administration of the American organization and Dr. W.

By the Washington Bureau of the Post-Dispatch. WASHINGTON, June 6.—Unemployment did not touch bottom a month ago, as many believed, but increased one-half of 1 per cent from April 30 to May 31, according to figures given out last night by the United States Employment Service of the Department of Labor. This percentage is based on pay-roll returns from 1425 of the larger industrial concerns in 65 cities. Since Jan. 31 unemployment in the same establishments has increased 3.3 per cent.

Healthier business conditions than the average were noted in St. Louis, where unemployment decreased 5 per cent during May. Among the other large cities reporting more workers employed than during the previous month were Denver, 22.4 per cent; St. Paul, 13.3; Seattle, 9.8; Chattanooga, 7.4; Atlanta, 6.1; Indianapolis, 5.1; Dayton, 5.7. Cities showing a decrease in employment included Portland, 26.4 per cent; Memphis, 15.6; San Francisco, 14.3; Peoria, 11.8; Louisville, 9.5; Cincinnati, 7.2; Birmingham, 5.4; New Orleans, 5; Baltimore, 4.1; Boston, 3.2; Chicago, 2.9; Columbus, 2.3.

Unemployment in St. Louis was 14.2 per cent in May, compared with 14.7 per cent in April. The decrease was due to a number of factors, including a decline in the building industry, a decline in the manufacturing industry, and a decline in the service industry.

ALBERT D. LASKER TO BE HEAD OF SHIPPING BOARD

Owner of Advertising Agency, Who Was Genius of Will Hays' Publicity Campaign, Accepts Place.

By DAVID LAWRENCE. A Special Correspondent of the Post-Dispatch. (Copyright, 1921.) WASHINGTON, June 6.—Albert D. Lasker of Chicago has accepted the chairmanship of the United States Shipping Board. President Harding first offered the place to Lasker a fortnight ago but the latter came to Washington and urged the President to appoint Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Co. of New Jersey. Lasker believed that Teagle knew more about shipping and ships and the particular problems of the Government than anyone else and was even willing to act as an assistant to Teagle in order to persuade the latter to take the job.

The President yielded to Lasker's advice and made a final effort to get Teagle. Everything was arranged satisfactorily when the man who was to take over Teagle's work in the Standard Oil Co. suddenly became ill and the doctors advised a prolonged trip to Europe. Teagle couldn't, therefore, leave his work and declined the position.

Mr. Harding consequently fell back on Albert Lasker and insisted that the latter accept as originally planned. Lasker admitted that he didn't know a thing about ships but the President was of the opinion that technical assistance could be secured so long as the man at the head of the Shipping Board was an organizer and a business man.

Lasker is president and owner of the L. D. Lasker Advertising Agency, but is one of the principal owners in many big business enterprises. He is a part owner of the Mitchell Car Co., Quaker Oats, Van Camp's, the Chicago Cubs baseball club and several other companies. He is the author of the famous Lasker plan by which the warfare in baseball which developed last winter between the Chicago Cubs and the St. Louis Cardinals was ended.

Lasker is prominent in Illinois politics and is one of the principal supporters of Senator Medill McCormick. As a business man his greatest facility is quick decision and penetrating judgment. Many a big business concern has gone to him for advice.

The job ahead is one of liquidation without sacrifice to the interests of the Government. It is a task of selling ships and salvaging as much as possible of the proceeds for the Government. Lasker is a shrewd negotiator and possessor of a loyalty which makes President Harding feel absolutely safe that he can turn over the whole shipping question to the new chairman without further worry.

The tales of graft and irregularity in the shipping situation have come to the ears of the President, who has felt that someone who wasn't tied up with the shipping interests would have a detached viewpoint and serve the Government better than one who was engaged in the operation of ships.

Former Sing Sing Warden Says Education Is Best Means of Reforming Convicts, Ignorant of Work.

By the Associated Press. LONDON, June 6.—The Right Honorable William Crooks, who served as Labor member of Parliament for nearly 20 years, died yesterday.

Will Crooks became one of the leaders in the great labor movement and one of the dominant figures in England. He was born in a London slum, Poplar, in 1852, and started to work when only 9 years old. His father had been injured when the boy was scarcely more than a baby, and the family was forced to move to the workhouse (equivalent of the American poorhouse).

It was said of Will Crooks that no one ever doubted his word, and that his promise was unbreakable. He was the friend of the poorest, and never forgot his cockney friends of the London County Council, and devoted himself to improving the poor.

Obviously then in any penitentiary the selection of Warden is to set a man who can handle a problem that is 50 per cent medical and 100 per cent educational, not merely one who has the qualification of running a political machine smoothly.

Kirchwey declined to discuss in detail Osborne's Mutual Welfare League in Sing Sing. "There is too much to be said on both sides," he said. "However, I will say that some system of management which throws responsibility upon the inmates individually and collectively, which makes them responsible for their own good conduct and general administration is indispensable."

He added that many penitentiary wardens who denounced Osborne's league had set up similar organizations under other names in their own institutions.

He entered public life in 1892, when he was elected a member of the London County Council, and devoted himself to improving the poor.

Briton Praises "Battling Polo" Of Americans

English Writer Says Work of Team From U. S. Is Showing Great Improvement.

By SPENCER P. CHURCHILL.

(Copyright, 1921.)

LONDON, June 6.—During Derby week it was not expected that much would be done by either of the international polo teams; but as a matter of fact the practice games showed some interesting developments.

On Thursday a game was played at Roehampton in which seven Americans took part. Devereux Milburn captained the same team that played Hurlingham on the previous Saturday, while the four that opposed him consisted of R. E. Strawbridge, Leslie Stoddard, Thomas Hitchcock Jr., Lord Wodehouse and subsequently W. S. Buckmaster.

This was, therefore, a game in which the Americans obtained a vast amount of valuable practice but which could not be looked on as affording further material for criticism. The final result of five goals all reflected the nature of the game.

Milburn's team showed to disadvantage on Thursday. It was either an off day or the players did not want to run the risk of becoming overturned and stale. On the same ground they played a team composed of Hitchcock, Stoddard, Milburn and Hunter. Milburn on this occasion played somewhat better than his usual form and his team was beaten by a score of four goals to two.

I see no reason for altering the views which I already have expressed over the coming matches and that if the team only will turn out at their top form and possessed with that perfect harmony which the Americans at their best display so conspicuously, there is no reason why the cup should Carpenter, Drawing Military Comparison, Asserts That It Will Require More Than Direct Assault to Win in Coming Championship Battle.

MANHASSETT, N. Y., June 6.—A battle campaign, such as Georges Carpenter's illustrious countryman, Marshal Foch, might plan, is being carefully mapped out at the camp of the French boxer.

"After all," said Georges, "the theory of military strategy may be boiled down to good use in a fight of this sort. Imagine, for instance, that Dempsey, my foe on July 2, is an opposing army," and he laughed at the comparison.

"We are cognizant of the strength of the foe and the battle ground will be, we might say, familiar to us. We might say that it will take something beside direct assault to defeat the foe. So it amounts down to a battle of speed, endurance and strategy.

"Our scheme is to show more cleverness than the enemy and to throw our forces into the battle in such a manner that he will be able neither to strike direct and take another journey across the Atlantic. In their trial yesterday the Americans reverted to their former team, Hitchcock playing No. 2 and Hoppling dropping out and playing on the opposition. The result was that the Americans beat Ranelagh by a score of 13 goals to 2, showing the best form in combination play shown so far.

Change Strengthens Team. Lionel James, the Manchester Guardian's polo expert, believes that Devereux Milburn's tactics in making Stoddard and Hitchcock forwards has greatly improved the American team.

"After the team's brilliant playing the change seems justified," he writes. "Young Hitchcock gave a brilliant exhibition and Milburn was his invincible left again."

Although believing that the English team has shown great improvement in combination play, he thinks that they certainly are not up to

Dempsey, Butted In Injured Eye, Idle Once More

Wound Reopened in One of Several Rousing Tilts With Sparring Mates.

By Leased Wire From the New York Bureau of the Post-Dispatch.

ATLANTIC CITY, June 6.—Larry Williams, one of Jack Dempsey's sparring partners was the cause of throwing the Dempsey camp into confusion yesterday when his head came in contact with the champion's tender left eyebrow and reopened a cut that Jamaica Kid left Dempsey as a memento at Toledo.

Despite the heavy covering of plaster and cotton, the eyebrow was torn open with the result that Dempsey was momentarily blinded by the blood that poured down into his eyes. It ran down the side of his cheek and smeared his tremendous chest.

Dempsey paid no attention to the cut and seemed surprised when Teddy Hayes, his trainer, rushed across the ring and stopped the bout in order to sponge the eye. After Dempsey said a look at the wound. It was thought advisable to have the cut stitched. This was done by a local doctor. He advised strongly against boxing for a few days. Kearns agreed with him and said that the sparring partners would not be in for a repetition of the sound drubbing that was their portion this afternoon.

Every man who faced Dempsey got an unmerciful clouting. Marty Burke, Jack Renault and Williams being the sufferers. Dempsey was a madman. He drove his helmet before him in a terrific onslaught. Saturday he had been charitable but yesterday he must have pictured each of them as Mons. Georges.

Renault, a big Canadian heavy-weight, second on the slaughter list, got the worst hitting. He was practically out on his feet three times in two rounds. He tried to fight Dempsey off and once in the second round he fell into the arms of Teddy Hayes, who was acting as referee and time-keeper, and would have gone to the floor had not Hayes propped him up. At it was he so stiffened that he could not lift his arms for several seconds. Dempsey bunny-hugged him for a while to let the big chug come to.

How Would You Like to Be Renault? This respite was short-lived, however, for as soon as Dempsey saw that Renault could at least block he began another attack that left the star Spartan whirling in a weird fashion. A right-hand crack on the jaw just as final time was called stiffened Renault again and Dempsey reached out, cracked the big fellow a second and then slapped him on the back in approval.

Dempsey's left was a terror yesterday. He was looking in murderous fashion with it and it was one of these hooks to the body that almost brought Renault down. Dempsey repeatedly changed the style of his left delivery. One time it would be a long, sweeping hook, again he would rip it up in a terrifying uppercut, but the best punch of all was a short left hook, inside, from a shifting position. It was damaging and all three partners scurried to avoid it, when they could.

Burke again wore his headgear to protect his ears. It was his mouth that got it yesterday. Dempsey's vicious sweeps got the blood trickling from Burke's lips. Jack's punches rattled on that headgear so often to the contrivance was forever shifting, covering Burke's eyes and leaving him open to complete extermination. When Burke found that his vision was obstructed he would beat a hasty retreat, plucking frantically at the offending gear in an effort to shift it so that he at least could get a fair peek at the iron-fisted punisher. Burke had to make his adjustments while on the run, for there was no halting in Dempsey. He boxed five rounds of three minutes' duration, the sixth and last with Williams being cut in two in order to allow poor Larry to walk out of the ring unassisted.

COMPLAINANT NOW SAYS HE NEVER SAW ATTEL

NEW YORK, June 6.—Samuel W. Pass of Chicago, the complaining witness before the Cook County Grand Jury that returned the Illinois indictment against Abe Attel in connection with the baseball scandal of 1919, today declared he never had seen the ex-pugilist and never had had any transactions with him.

Pass made this statement when he was called as a witness in habeas corpus proceedings instituted by Attel after his recent arrest here as a fugitive from justice. The Chicagoan added that his testimony before the Cook County Grand Jury had been hearsay.

The case of Attel, who claims he is not the defendant mentioned in the Chicago indictment—was postponed until Friday after a ball player who was expected to testify failed to appear.

TILDEN LEAVES PARIS FOR WIMBLEDON COURTS

PARIS, June 6.—The member of the American tennis team who competed in the world's hard court tennis championship at St. Cloud left Paris at noon today for London, except J. D. E. Jones, who has gone to Switzerland. William T. Tilden, the American star, who added the world's hard court singles title to his long string of tennis honors, last Saturday, at St. Cloud, said it was improbable that he would return next year to defend his title at Brussels.

The American players are entered for the tournament at Beckingham, England, beginning tomorrow. Tilden will sail for the United States on the Olympic July 6 after defending his world's championship grass court title at Wimbledon, in the tournament beginning June 10.

Finals Played in Park Net Events

Finals in three park club tennis tournaments were played yesterday while a number of matches in other parks were completed. Club championships in men's singles were settled in Sherman Park, King's highway and Fairground Park events.

Last year the tournament was won by John McCarthy. In a first round match McCarthy was eliminated by Sauselle.

Leonard Battles Kansas, Tonight

Rugged Buffalo Battler Apparently Not Seriously Regarded by Champion.

NEW YORK, June 6.—Benny Leonard faces a serious situation in the Harrison Ball Park, Harrison, N. J., tonight, when he meets Rocky Kansas in defense of his title, in a 12-round, no-decision contest.

Leonard, of course, will smile at the thought that a bull-necked, broad-beamed individual like Kansas could do any dethroning. However, Leonard's close advisers must appreciate the fact that the Italian is fighting a man who can both take and give it, a combination that is always to be seriously considered when a championship is in the balance.

Leonard burned up six rounds in taking Ritchie Mitchell into camp. The wide-swinging Buffalo terror toppled over Ritchie in one minute or so of actual fighting. This fact alone makes it plain that Leonard has plenty to worry about when he goes into the ring tonight.

Kansas and his friends will come down from Buffalo bent on taking the title back as a trophy. They point out that Kansas has come along like a ball of fire, while the champion has been going along quietly defending his title against men who are not to be classed with this rough and tough man from Buffalo.

CARELESS SHAMPOOING SPOILS THE HAIR

Soap should be used very carefully, if you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it.

The best thing for steady use is Multisid coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use.

One or two teaspoonfuls of Multisid will cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich, creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excessive oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage.

You can get Multisid coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy, it's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Multisid.

TAG DAY TOMORROW FOR DISABLED VETERANS

Collections Will Be Taken to Build Clubhouse for the Wounded.

More than 2000 women will sell tags tomorrow in all parts of the city to raise funds for a clubhouse for the St. Louis Chapter of the Disabled American Veterans of the World War. Permission has been given by the Chief of Police to sell the tags on the street, and Mayor Kiel has issued a proclamation calling on citizens to respond generously to the appeal in behalf of hundreds of St. Louis men who were disabled in their service in the war.

Mrs. John H. Holliday, chairman of the tag day committee, stated that every woman would have an official badge and an official box and no one without these would be authorized to collect for the veterans. Anyone wishing to donate by check may send it to N. A. McMillan, St. Louis Union Trust Co., treasurer of the fund.

The women will be on duty at 7 a. m. At the moving picture theaters at night "Four Minute Men," accompanied by disabled men, will make an appeal. Miss Ada Johnson, Veiled Prophet Queen, her maids of honor and other society girls, will sell tags at the Municipal Opera, Forest Park.

A poem written by Warren Kelly, a former St. Louis service man, has been adopted as the official appeal for Tag Day and is as follows:

CROSSES.

Beneath the crimson poppy blooms That nod in Flanders' Valleys, They slumber, in that last long sleep From which no bugle rallies.

While back and forth on life's great loom, Deep hurt, but never dying, Like worn-out shuttles, still in use.

We broken ones are flying, Their cross, for them, a quiet grave In Flanders is adorning— For us, we bear our cross—and live; For them—the Easter morning.

Forgive us, Lord, if now and then, We envy them—we living, They have the peace, their life-blood bought, They gave—we still are giving.

Organizations which have united for tag day are the Catholic Woman's League, the Board of Religious Organizations, Women's Auxiliaries of the 125th Field Artillery, the Twelfth Engineers, the Eighty-ninth Division, the Thirty-fifth Division and the United Spanish War Veterans, the College Club, the Red Triangle of the Y. M. C. A., former Soldiers, Sailors and Marine Club, Jewish clubs and church societies, Woman's Council of Defense Organization of the Twenty-seventh Ward, Comforts Committee, Eighth District, Federated Women's Clubs, and the Webster Groves and Kirkwood Council of Defense.

$50,000,000 URGED FOR LOANS TO CATTLE MEN

Federal Reserve Board Proposes Legislation to Permit Use of "Money for Two Years."

By the Associated Press.
WASHINGTON, June 6.—Legislation authorizing Secretary Mellon to make available to the War Finance Corporation $50,000,000 to be loaned to cattle raisers was recommended to Congress by the Federal Reserve Board in a formal statement issued last night by Gov.
Harding.

The recommendation was made,
Gov. Harding explained, with the concurrence of the Secretary, to meet the temporary emergency existing in the livestock industry.

The board's proposal was announced by the Governor before leaving for a two weeks' tour of the cattle-producing sections of the country. He will stop at Des Moines, Ia.; Cheyenne, Wyo.; Albuquerque, N. M.; El Paso, San Antelo, San Antonio and Dallas, Tex.

Harding has just completed a similar tour of the agricultural sections of the South and Middle West.

"The board feels," he said, "that the financial emergency which menaced the country during 1920 has definitely passed."

Cattle Industry Needs Relief.
However, he added, additional credit facilities are urgently needed by producers of some highly essential products, particularly in the stock-raising industry.

Amendment to the reserve act making one and two-year cattle paper eligible for rediscount, instead of the existing limit of six months, as a means of providing the longer-term credit required by the necessities of livestock industry, is deemed inadvisable by the board, the Governor declared. Such loans, he asserted, could be made through reserve banks as fiscal agents for the War Finance Corporation rather than as banks of discount. He suggested that the time for making these advances to stockmen be limited to three years from the passage of the enabling legislation, "with a view to having the funds thus advanced ultimately returned to the treasury."

This legislation, in the board's opinion, he continued, "will meet the present emergency and should give ample time for the development of permanent plans for the financing of the livestock industry. It should also tend to stabilize the credits affecting this industry and serve to demonstrate the value, to those desiring short-time investments, of cattle paper running longer than six months."

General Credit Situation.
Discussing the general credit situation, Gov. Harding maintained there was no ground for apprehension regarding the ability of the banks to meet the requirements of both agriculture and industry.

"It is the opinion of the Federal Reserve Board," he said, "that the country is approaching a crop season with underlying conditions far sounder than they were a year ago."

STOCK MARKET

WEAK; PAUSE IS FAIRLY ACTIVE

Short Selling Large Factor—Losses Shown by Rails on Reported Referendum With Regard to Recent Wage Cut—Exchange Weak.

By Leased Wire From the New York

Post, in its copyrighted financial review today, says:

"Short selling continued to hold the upper hand on the Stock Exchange, the list being generally weak in fairly active trading. Dividend actions still played their part in developing pessimistic sentiment, but the market held fairly well until a few minutes before the close, when the market broke down and the more active industrial shares declined from 1 to 2 points toward the close. Call money was at 1/2 per cent throughout.

Exchange Rates Weak.

"The price reaction occurred in the first half of the session. Sterling opened 6 cents lower at $12.74, while the franc started 1/2 point lower at 16.25 cents. Activity was somewhat greater than during most of last week and reports were again in circulation to the effect that German buying of dollars had been resumed in London.

It may be argued that Germans have almost three months in which to accomplish the payment on account of repatriation, and that they are not likely to buy exchange at unfavorable prices. On the other hand, they may fear a reaction in sterling on the basis of the economic paralysis which has resulted from the coal strike. Reasoning on such lines, they might prefer to accept a present premium rather than take their chances on a future uncertainty. At the same time, it is of course entirely possible that the present depreciation in sterling already partially reflects the economic crisis in England.

"At all events, sterling rallied up

1 1/2 cents from the low to $12.80, while the franc came up to 16.25 cents.

Settling of Italian lire meanwhile was especially heavy, the price dropping

3 1/2 points to 4.15 cents. Most of the other continental quotations showed similar movements.

Cotton and Wheat React.

"Cotton, after opening somewhat higher on hopes of a settlement in the British coal strike, which were revived

by cables stating that the miners' representatives had accepted invitation from the owners to return to work on the 15th, reacted on the counter-influence of the shutdown of the Manchester cotton mills. After declining

17 1/2 cents, the July delivery made a partial recovery, being off 11 points at 12.42 cents.

"The reaction in wheat continued,

but not until after a transitory show of strength. July sold up 1 cent to $1.23 1/2, then broke 4 1/2 cents, and covered one-half cent to $1.23. The September delivery, trading in which started on Saturday at $1.25, meanwhile went to $1.12 1/2, but came back up to $1.11. It would appear that the bulk movement in the July option, which was worked up after the squeeze in the May future, was somewhat overdue, while reports of more favorable weather are also playing a part in the movement toward lower prices. With the Government crop report due on Wednesday, this week should see some clarification of the situation.

JUNE BRIDES

By MARGUERITE MOOERS MARSHAL

MORAL—On With the Orange Blossoms, Ivory Satin and Duchesse Lace—but if You Want a Quiet, Restful Summer, Have a FALL Wedding!

THE June Bride is one American industry which suffers from no slump. The June Bride is that popular goddess, the Pretty Daughter.

Who takes mortal form, out of a cloud of orange blossoms, ivory satin and duchesse lace.

Is a Young Married Woman—god-fesses no longer.

But like Martha, cumbered with many things; such as finding an apartment at a reasonable rental.

Solving the servant problem. Buying porthouse on a Hamburg income.

Getting used to the worst of the wedding presents.

Listening to the advice of a new set of relatives.

Discovering that in our naive society, the stupidest and plainest paper is a figure of social importance compared to a beautiful three days' bride!

In most American circles we treat the young women as our forefathers treated old ones; for the latter, the witches' ducking pond was the test;

When they floated, there was something wrong; when they sank, every one voted them true women.

After they were drowned. On the same principle, if the most charming and beautiful girl doesn't marry, she is a "floater."

Everybody knows that SOMETHING is the matter with her!

If she DOES marry, her charm sinks beneath the waters of matrimony. And is never recovered.

Delicious Frozen Desserts Are Easily Made by the Housewife

PARTICULARLY during these hot days are frozen desserts acceptable. They are no harder to make than the equally palatable dishes and are no more expensive than any dessert which requires a like amount of cream or milk and eggs.

Frozen desserts may be classified as follows: Philadelphia Ice cream, which is a thin cream, sweetened, flavored and frozen; French Ice cream, which is frozen custards of different degrees of richness; made of several egg yolks; paraffin and mouselines which are mixtures of whipped cream, sugar, flavoring, with or without eggs, frozen without stirring; water ices, usually composed of fruit juices sweetened with cooked syrup, and sherbets which are water less with the beaten white of eggs added.

When impossible to get cream for frozen desserts evaporated milk may be successfully substituted. Fruit ice cream may be easily made by combining thin cream with crushed fruits and sweetening to taste, then freezing.

Since this is the berry season a few recipes for making frozen berry desserts will not be amiss.

STRAWBERRY JAM

TAKE an equal quantity, in weight, of strawberries, rhubarb and sugar. Rhubarb increases the amount of jelly without materially changing the taste. As it is considerably cheaper in price than the fruit it is economy to use it. Cut rhubarb into small pieces or run it through the food chopper, being careful not to waste any of the juice. Add sugar to rhubarb. Hull and wash the berries before adding them to the rhubarb and sugar. When berries are dissolved cook the mixture, stirring occasionally, until the jam is of the desired consistency. Raspberry jam can be made in the same way. If you like the jam quite sweet use less rhubarb. In that case less sugar will be required. For instance, if you use two pounds of fruit take one pound of rhubarb and one and a half pounds of sugar, unless you desire it very sweet, when two pounds of sugar will be all right.

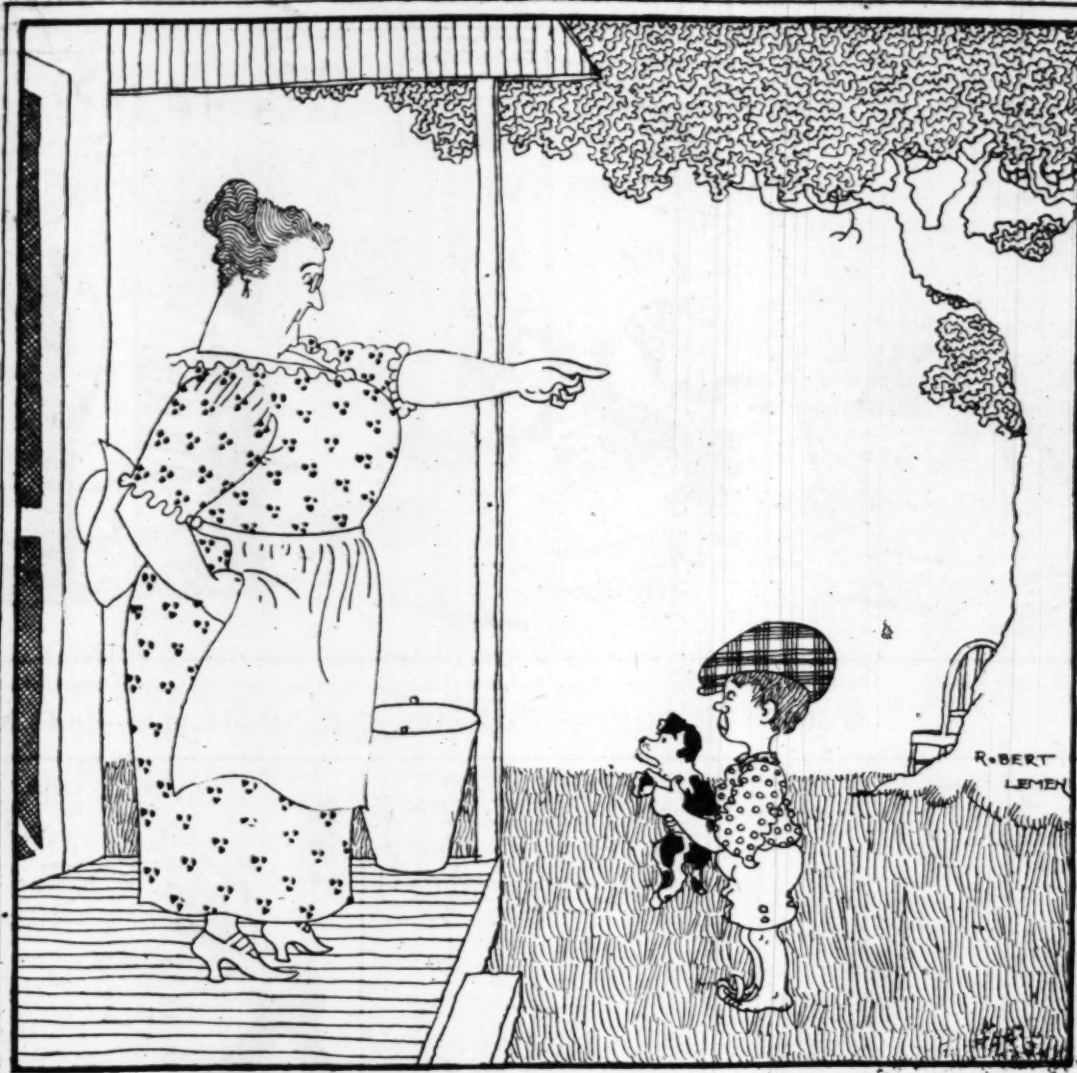

CHOCOLATE SOUFFLE

4 tablespoons butter.
4 tablespoons flour.
1 cup milk.
1 cup sugar.
2 squares melted unsweetened chocolate.
1 teaspoon vanilla.
4 eggs, separated.
Melt butter, add flour, mix until smooth, then cook until frothy; add milk and stir constantly until very thick; add melted chocolate, stirring, sugar and well-beaten egg whites. Fold in the stiffly beaten egg whites. Pour into a baking dish, set dish in hot water and bake in a moderate oven until firm in the center. Serve at once with a cold custard sauce or whipped cream.

TOMATO SALAD

SEL. A good sized tomato, cut over ripe; cut them in slices and remove the seeds; lay them in a dish with oil and vinegar in the proportion of 2 to 1, sprinkle pepper salt and mix over according to taste. Add some onions very finely sliced. They should lie in the dish for a couple of hours before serving in the ice-box.

A HOUSING PROBLEM

Once in a Northern Twilight

By Mary Synon

(Copyright, 1931.)

EDITH KENDRICK was watching the trail of foam in the wake of a motor boat far out on Porcupine Lake when Letty Williams came up the corduroy road from Golden City. We had been talking of the sea, Mrs. Kendrick and Constable and I, while we had waited for the coming of the other guests whom Kendrick was asking to the dinner in celebration of Ted Leffen's gold strike at Miasnabill. Hundreds of miles from the Atlantic, up the North country under the eaves of James Bay, shut in by the wilderness of the Bush, we were drifting into the old nostalgia for salt water that only those who have dwelt beside the ocean know after they have lived in salt.

It was an ancient chapter with legends like ourselves, but always Edith Kendrick seemed to live it with a strange and wistful intensity, as if she were reliving the story of her life in which she had been so long a stranger. She had chosen from the first to cast her lot with men rather than with women, and she had paid the price of her choosing in a social ostracism which became marked as the social system of Golden City developed. She had taken her sentence lightly to all appearances, but her very gratitude, showing its face to Edith Kendrick now, showed that the iron must have entered her soul.

"Isn't this a pretty place?" she exclaimed, admiringly, as she came within the veranda's shelter, paying tribute unconsciously to the woman who had wrought the miracle of ordered beauty out of the wilderness. "And isn't it a lovely view?"

"I'm afraid," Edith Kendrick said, slipping Letty into the conversation with that deftness of social skill which always made her wonder what she had been before she had married Kendrick, and why she had ever happened to marry him at all. "We were dreaming of how the sea must look in a sunset like this."

"I don't know," Letty Williams said. "I never saw it. Ted talks of it often, though. He comes from Halifax, you know."

"From Halifax? That's my town, but I didn't know him there."

"You wouldn't have," Letty gave me a smile which revealed amusement in the circumstances. "Ted didn't have much claim to fame in his boyhood. He must have had a pretty hard time, although you'd never find that out from him. Capt. Stratton, though, his partner, sometimes says that."

"Is that Ross Stratton?" Mrs. Kendrick's voice modulated though it was, drew out.

"Yes, he came from Halifax, too, didn't he?"

"I believe so. Has he been here?"

"Oh, no. I met him in Halleybury. He's coming tonight, though. That's why Ted didn't come with me. He's waiting to see if he comes up on the first boat from Frederick House Crossing."

I saw Edith's arm close tightly upon the arm of her wicker chair. A little tremor, as if of pain, twitched her mouth, but her voice held steady as she asked: "Is his wife coming with him?"

Letty Williams' eyes widened a little. "I really don't know," she said.

There fell a silence that Constable hastened to break. "I knew a Stratton in Goldfields before the war," he said. "Fine chap. No alloy in him."

"That would be Capt. Stratton," Letty Williams said.

A smile, half scornful, half speculative, Edith's lips. "I wonder," she mused. Then, as if she drew a purpose beyond social amenities, and we had suspected that he was entertaining for hot-headed, hard-drinking, wild young Ted Leffen so that he might worm his way into making money out of the boy's lucky find in the new camp, but we had never before had Edith's statement of her own possibility in the game. At that, however, she needed hardly to have said anything. That Letty Williams was coming up the tiny path to the house by the lake was proof enough that the affair was of Kendrick's stage management for Letty Williams was of those whom Kendrick would know and whom Edith wouldn't.

There wasn't anything definitely against the girl, to be sure. She had come, a latter-day voyager, into the Porcupine as correspondent for a Montreal newspaper, and remained as assistant to Cary Connors in the getting out of a miniature weekly which chronicled the good luck and bad, the hopes and fears, the joy and sorrow which make up life to the full in a mining camp. She had chosen from the first to cast her lot with men rather than with women, and she had paid the price of her choosing in a social ostracism which became marked as the social system of Golden City developed. She had taken her sentence lightly to all appearances, but her very gratitude, showing its face to Edith Kendrick now, showed that the iron must have entered her soul.

The Weekly Health Talk

By DR. MAX C. STARKLOFF,
Health Commissioner of St. Louis.

DURING the heated period when health and even life itself is at stake we feel that a few suggestions as to proper methods of living may be appreciated.

Avoiding unnecessary exposure to the sun and the wearing of light apparel are mentioned only incidentally as the advantage of both of these things is appreciated by all.

In addition there are four things that will be found very helpful, as follows:

Avoiding excessive eating, especially indigestible food.

Avoiding the excessive use of alcoholic drinks.

Keeping the skin in good condition by frequent bathing.

Securing plenty sleep.

In a period of excessive heat the diet should be light, meat and the meaty foods, such as beans, potatoes, etc., should be avoided, or at least limited in amount. Fruit and fresh vegetables should form the main diet, with perhaps meat once a day and all overeating should be avoided.

Thirst, caused by the loss of water through the perspiration, should be allayed by such drinks as pure water, cool but not ice cold, milk and the beverages made from the fruit juices. The drinks known as soft drinks, such as soda, sarsaparilla, etc., are agreeable to many and are permissible, but all alcoholic drinks should be avoided or if partaken of at all it should be sparingly. Alcohol is a decided stimulant, excessive stimulation is followed by depression and lowers the powers of resistance.

Sleep is nature's restorer; it builds up resistance and enables one to withstand effort both mental and physical. The person who has a normal amount of restful sleep is by far better able to withstand oppression than one who has not.

This is proven over and over again by the fact that no matter how hot the days may be if the nights are cool very few sunstrokes occur and these are found almost entirely among the drinkers. The sober working man who succumbs in the period of hot nights, when he cannot sleep, is not found among the prostrated during the period when restful sleep is possible.

Years of experience have shown that practically no heat prostrations occur until after a period of a few hot sultry nights.

Pride in her home in her eyes so honestly that I grew ashamed of my judgments on her. What if she were a weather-beaten little bird of passage? She was going to give Letty something that Edith Kendrick had surely never given her husband. She was getting a devotion that swept aside everything but its own faith. No wonder that Constable beamed on them both and that Mrs. Kendrick stared at the boy and girl as if they were ghosts of a day she had long sought to forget. In the glow of such happiness only Kendrick's watchfulness seemed baneful; and even that flickered down as we followed his wife to the screened porch which they made the summer dining room.

There, at the foot of the table, spread brightly with the silver which they had packed through miles of muskeg, and gay with the early flowers of that garden for which Edith slaved so valiantly, she slipped into the role which she played so often in that setting. Not the homely woman who had given confidence to Constable and myself, not the unhappy wife flinging defiance at her husband, but the hostess who, with the ease of long practice, kept alive the spirit of the occasion for which her guests have been summoned.

Spirited, brilliant, charming, she took the bit of responsibility in her teeth and galloped down the road of conversation. She brought out Letty Williams until the girl's eyes shone with delight in realization of her own powers, and Letty beamed upon them both. She led Letty on until the boy expanded in rollicking humor. Even Kendrick's keen eyes glistened as the party rid on smoothly. Only once did he show annoyance, and that was when Ted Leffen pushed aside the champagne which the China boy had poured.

"Here's to you," he cried, springing to his feet. "Your health and happiness! Good luck!"

He lifted his glass high, and Constable and I raised ours. Letty Williams looked at Letty in troubled question. The boy bit his lip, hesitated, then flicked the liquor. Edith Kendrick and Letty tried with their glasses. The China boy came back and poured more for Kendrick and Ted. I thought I saw Letty signal to him to let it alone. If he saw her, he did not heed her. Steadily, and as swiftly as the servant followed Kendrick's instructions, Ted Leffen began to drink.

BURGESS BEDTIME STORIES

By THORNTON W. BURGESS

MOTHER BEAR BECOMES UNEASY

It would give me a funny feeling all over to see Mother Bear afraid of anything," continued Woolf. "I can't imagine her afraid of a single thing, not one. Why, when we are with her I just know that nothing can happen to us, no matter if we aren't grown up yet."

It was that very afternoon that Woolf-Woolf noticed Mother Bear acting queerly. At least it seemed that way to Woolf-Woolf and to Boxer, too. They didn't know just what to make of it, for they hadn't seen her act that way before. The twins had been hunting wild strawberries along the edge of the Old Pasture where it joins the Green Forest. Mother Bear had been sitting down watching them. Suddenly she put her head up and sniffed long and hard. Then she stood up on her hind feet and sniffed. For what seemed to the twins ever and ever so long she stood there sniffing the air and her face looked as if she smelled something she didn't like.

Of course, the twins did exactly as Mother Bear was doing, but though they wrinkled up their funny little noses and sniffed and sniffed they couldn't smell anything unusual. Presently Mother Bear dropped down and began to shuffle about uneasily. Every few minutes she would put her head up and sniff, and her face wore a worried look. Two or three times she stood up as at first. Then when she dropped down to all fours she walked about in that same uneasy manner.

The twins forgot all about strawberries. It was plain that something was making her very uneasy, and so they became uneasy. A queer feeling very like fear crept over them. They couldn't think of anything to be afraid of, but because Mother Bear, who never feared anything, seemed worried, they felt strangely anxious to do down inside. So they kept close to Mother Bear's heels.

"What is it?" ventured Boxer at last, as Mother Bear again stood up and sniffed.

There was to know and so felt very much bigger and more important than they were. Perhaps it was because Mother Bear never showed fear of anything, so they had come to believe that there was nothing for Bears to be afraid of.

"Mother Bear isn't afraid of a single thing in all the Great World," declared Woolf-Woolf one morning as the twins rested after a wrestling match.

"And I don't suppose that big black Bear she says is our father is afraid of anything in all the Great World, not a single thing," added Boxer. Of course, he meant Buster Bear.

"Excepting Mother Bear," Woolf-Woolf reminded him.

"That's so," admitted Boxer, remembering how Buster Bear had run from Mother Bear the time he had chased the twins up a tree, not knowing they were his own children.

There, at the foot of the table, spread brightly with the silver which they had packed through miles of muskeg, and gay with the early flowers of that garden for which Edith slaved so valiantly, she slipped into the role which she played so often in that setting. Not the

MORE TRUTH THAN POETRY

By James J. Montague.

THE SOLACE OF OLD AGE.

(A pickpocket of 87, recently arrested in New York, was said to be as skillful as the youngest man in the business.)

Though picking pockets is a trade
Most honest folks discountenance,
Though very seldom is it made
The theme of popular romance,
And though it yields but little gold,
It has a few good points at that.
For instance, when a man grows old,
It doesn't ever leave him flat.

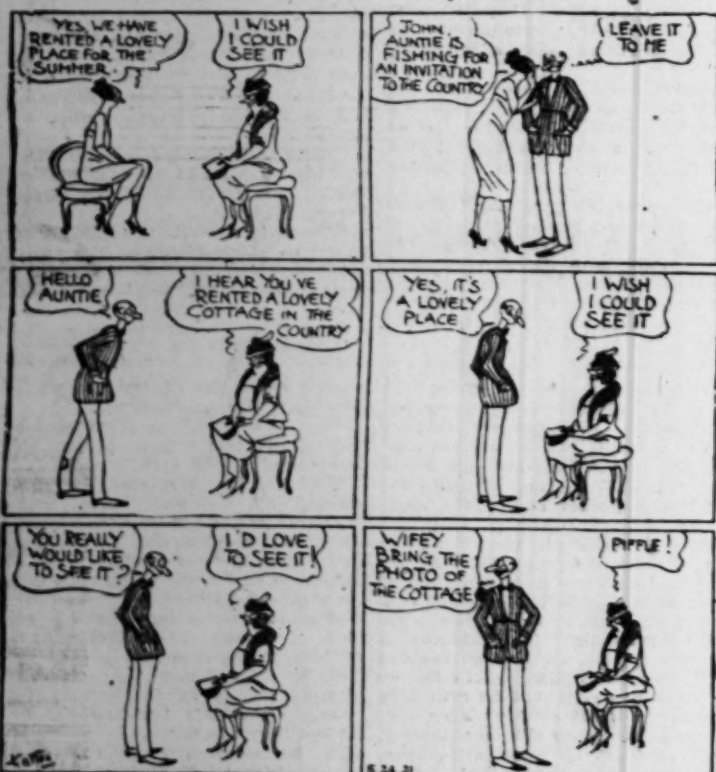

The baseball player's arm goes bad
When he is, well, say thirty-two;
The skill and cunning that he had Departs abruptly and he's through.
The tenor, when his voice has gone,
Must needs let all the world forget him;
For though he'd like to carry on His headless audience won't let him.

The lawyer in his dotage finds
That he toward penury must trudge;
For clients all want younger minds
To frame their stories to the judge.
And even poets must abstain
From writing in their autumn time.
For through the aged worn-out brain
There sings no tune, there rings no rhyme.

More lucky is the hoary "dip,"
For though he's spent with years, poor soul,
His fingers still can lightly slip Around some total stranger's roll.
I've never practiced this career,
I've thought it low, and rather bad,
But when I reach my sixtieth year,
I sort of think I'll wish I had!
